TEN JURORS ARE UNDER OATH IN THE THAW TRIAL

Lawyers Hustle When Judge Says They'll Have to Work Saturday.

MRS. THAW VERY ILL

Prisoner's Mother Takes Turn for the Worse and Condition Is Serious.

THAW'S MOTHER WORSE; CONDITION SERIOUS NOW

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 10.—The condition of Mrs. William Thaw, the aged mother of Harry Thaw, took a decided turn for the worse today. Mrs. Thaw is seriously ill, suffering from rheumatism and threatened with pneumonia.

Her condition is such that her intimate friends declare she will not be able to attend any of the sessions of the Thaw trial, and there is danger that she will never again leave her bed. Mrs. Thaw is past 70 years of age.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Ten jurors now are under oath to pass upon the question of the guilt or innocence of Harry Thaw, on trial for the second time on the charge of the murder of Stanford White. New York lawyers don't like to work on Saturday, and so they hurried today to fill the box with sworn jurymen after Justice Victor Dowling announced that unless the jury was completed before nightfall court would be in session tomorrow.

As there will be a session tonight, it is believed that the full quota of jurors will be obtained before adjournment, and that Monday will see the beginning of the real trial—the introduction of the testimony for the prosecution.

Actress Supenaed Again.

Rumors of a mistake in identity when an attempt was made to subpena Edna Goodrich, the actress, wanted as a witness for the defense in the trial of Harry K. Thaw, led to the serving of another subpena last night on the young woman at the theater where she is playing. Miss Goodrich and her mother willingly accepted the papers and promised to be on hand whenever desired.

Justice Dowling announced this morning that night sessions of the court would not be held after the jury is completed. When the taking of testimony begins the court hours will be from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., with an hour for luncheon.

The sixth panel of 100 talesmen was ordered today to report in court tomorrow morning.

Thaw had his arms full of papers and wraps as usual when [illegible] stalked into the courtroom this morning, looking neither to the right nor left. He sank into his chair beside his personal counsel, A. Russell Peabody, without even a look at the chairs where were seated his wife and members of his family. It was explained by his lawyers that he is worried over the illness of his mother. Mr. Littleton planned to [illegible] her as one of his principal witnesses. Should her health be such that she will be unable to come it would prove a distinct blow to her son's cause. She knows best the incidents in his career expected to prove that Thaw was not mentally responsible for the killing of White.

Seat No. 8 in the jury box went to William H. McHugh, a clerk, of 1653 Madison avenue. He said he had read and heard a great deal about the case, but had no fixed opinion regarding it. To Justice Dowling he explained that the question of reasonable doubt was one that might trouble him because he did not know just what it meant. When it was explained that such doubt was one upon which he would be expected to act on in the graver affairs of life, he said: "I guess it will be all right."

The eleventh talesman called finally was accepted temporarily. He was Frank J. Howell, vice-president of a drill manufacturing concern, who said:

"Being a man of some degree of intelligence, I have formed an opinion from what I have read of this case, especially the evidence at the former trial, but I can easily lay that opinion aside and try the case strictly on the evidence as I hear it."

The defense used its twentieth challenge against Houston M. Sadler, a stock broker, whom Mr. Littleton tried first to disqualify for cause.

William L. Sondheim, a broker, the thirteenth talesman for examination, qualified for service after a brief course of questioning.

WIFE HID HIS UNDERWEAR

For This, Father of Four Children Wants Divorce.

Edward Quielisch, 1426 Goodfellow avenue, sued Nellie Quielisch for divorce Friday, his principal charge being that she hid his underwear when he wanted to take a bath and made him search the house over before he found it.

Quielisch, who was a widower with four children when he married again last June, says that his wife did not get along well with the children. He says she locked a 3-year-old boy up in a dark room and kept him there all day because he would not give her a bite of pretzel.

PUGILIST WHO KILLED HIS FATHER PAROLED IN ORDER THAT ME MAY AID MOTHER

Carroll Cain's Freedom Made Conditional on His Keeping Out of Prize Ring in Future.

Carroll Cain, the youthful bantamweight prize fighter, who killed his father with a baseball bat, because abusive language used by his father toward the rest of the family, and threats directed at his mother, was paroled Friday by Judge Muench after serving a month in the Workhouse. He must keep away from prize fights if he is to retain his liberty.

Cain's mother, who lives at 511 Espenschied street, has represented to the Court that she is without means, and needs the boy's support.

On this representation Judge Muench, who sentenced Cain for six months, decided to release him. He must report monthly and must satisfy the Court that he is avoiding the prize ring, and is keeping out of bad company.

Cain has promised to go to work either as a teamster or as a waiter. He prefers the former work.

He struck his father on the head Aug. 1 last and the father died eight days later.

CIGARETTES HIS EVIL, WIFE SAYS; PIANO IS HER FAULT, HUSBAND RETORTS

Woman's First Suit Thrown Out of Court, Now She Tries Again With New Complaint.

Mrs. Helen L. Cassidy wants a divorce from Jesse P. Cassidy of 1117A Euclid avenue because he is so addicted to the cigarette habit that he developed an excessively bad temper. In November, 1906, Cassidy sued his wife for divorce, alleging that she was such a lover of music that she could find little time to shower affections upon him.

The former divorce suit was dismissed, and the couple went to live together again. Mrs. Cassidy left her husband the last time New Year's day, and prepared for a divorce. She alleges that three days after marriage in Washington, Mo., her husband threatened [illegible] kill her.

The charge offers a possible explanation for the sudden disappearance of Mrs. Cassidy a few days after her wedding. After 10 days' mysterious absence she returned, saying she had been visiting a friend in Chicago.

SEARCHES THREE YEARS, FINDS DAUGHTER PRISONER, GETS HER

Judge, Hearing of Girl's Elopement and Her Wish to Return Home, Paroles Mabel Reischling.

Mabel Reischling, 19 years old, will go from the Workhouse Saturday morning back to her old home on the farm of her father, Michael Reischling, in Calloway County, Mo., after an absence of three years, which have been filled with vicissitudes.

Three years ago Mabel, then 16, married against the wishes of her father and came to St. Louis. During these three years her father has searched for her, believing that she was in trouble. Recently he heard that she was in St. Louis and came here to learn that she had been arrested. He was sent to the Court of Criminal Correction in search of her, only to find that she had just been sent to the Workhouse under a sentence of six months for loitering on the street.

The facts in the case were presented to Judge Taylor, who promised to parole her if she would return home with her father. This she was glad to do. She is the only living child in the family.

BOY, 14, KILLED A BURGLAR AFTER BEING KNOCKED DOWN

He Uses Antiquated Shotgun Against Negro's Hammers and Fists.

ALVERTON, Pa., Jan. 10.—Fourteen-year-old Paul Bowers killed one of two negro burglars after a battle here early today.

The boy was awakened by some one attempting to force an entrance to the house. Obtaining an antiquated double-barreled shotgun, the boy started on an investigation. At the entrance of the stairs he was met by two negroes. One of them threw a hammer at Paul, but he dodged. The other struck him on the head with his fist, knocking him flat. Paul fired while prostrate, the shot striking the foremost negro in the abdomen, killing him instantly.

NOBLE AERONAUT PLANS AN AIRSHIP FOR 100 PERSONS

Count Zeppelin, Whose Craft Has Already Carried 11, Will Increase Size.

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—Count Zeppelin proposes to build an airship to carry 100 persons. He estimates that it will be necessary to build it only 26 feet longer than his latest airship, which is 137 feet long, and which carried 11 persons in addition to 3300 pounds of ballast.

Experts believe that the Count will succeed.

SURGEON DIES WHILE OPERATING

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—What is probably a unique occurrence happened at the Birkenfeld Infirmary yesterday. Dr. Merlin, who was performing an operation on a child, died suddenly of heart disease.

No other surgeon was present and the child died before another one could be procured.

LOVE LETTERS OF A POLICEMAN HIS DOWNFALL

"I'll Walk Ten Miles in Rain," He Says, "Before I'll Write a Line to Women."

MRS. KELLY IS MARRIED

So Is the Bluecoat and She Turned His Notes Over to the Captain.

The letters he wrote to another man's wife were the cause of William Alsdorf's suspension from the police force.

"It was a wise old guy who said never to write letters to a woman," said Alsdorf Friday. "I'll never write another line to a woman, not even if I have to walk ten miles in the rain to tell her how much I love her."

The woman gave the letters to Capt. O'Malley of the Carr Street Police Station and they are now upon the desk of Chief Creecy and will be used against Alsdorf in his hearing before the board.

Alsdorf admits that he wrote the letters, but he denies that he coaxed the woman to come over to his beat to live so that he might see her oftener.

The woman is Mrs. Louisa Kelley. Her husband and child live in Jacksonville, Ill. She lives at 2662 Lucas avenue. Alsdorf lives with his wife and two children at 3938 Kennerly avenue.

Wife Knows All.

"My wife knows all about it," said Alsdorf Friday. "I thought it was no use to lie about it so I told her the whole story and she has forgiven me. But say, I'd like to see the woman who could get me to write her a letter. I've had enough of letter writing."

Alsdorf is 34 years old and has been a policeman a little more than a year. He met Mrs. Kelley on the street while he was walking his beat.

"Was she good looking?" he was asked. Alsdorf laughed and said:

"Yes, she was tolerably fair looking. If she wasn't I wouldn't have taken up with her."

Alsdorf did not attempt to deceive her. He stopped her and began a conversation and got her address and wrote her a letter in which he said:

"I am in the same fix as you are. I am married, too. I have been for nine years, and I have two children. But I like you. You are a woman a person can speak sense to and you are willing to take advice, and I spoke to you as a good woman who needed advice. Another thing I like about you is you are quiet and do not use bad language. I will do all for you I can."

Sent Second Letter.

In the next letter he wrote her he said: "I heard you were sick and home to see your child. I have been looking for your smiling face every day on my beat. I hope to see you some day this week."

The last letter Alsdorf wrote to Mrs. Kelley was full of complaints because she had not met him as she promised to do. He said: "I've been looking for you every day. I guess I am getting like cold turkey to you. Do you wish to pass it up that way?"

"Yes, I wrote 'em," said Alsdorf. "I've confessed it all to Capt. O'Malley. I've made a fool of myself. But say, wasn't that woman mean to turn me up that way. I never did a thing but treat her nicely. But I'll never write another letter—not to a woman: no, sir."

Mrs. Kelley says her reason for giving Capt. O'Malley the letters was to show that he had woed her.

BERLIN MOBS CRYING 'REFORM' STORM LANDTAG

Demand for Manhood Suffrage Is Met by Unpopular Statement by Chancellor.

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—A demand made in the Prussian Landtag today for manhood suffrage in Prussia brought out the statement from Prince von Buelow, the Imperial Chancellor, that while the matter required reform, the Government did not consider that manhood suffrage would be good for the State, and that secret voting would not be permitted.

This statement was distinctly unpopular with the people, who had gathered in large numbers outside the building. Rioting began and the police were speedily reinforced. The demonstrants spread through the city, and to control them the police had to charge with drawn sabers. A number of the rioters were injured, and some of the police sustained wounds.

Motion Is Lost

The motion for manhood suffrage was rejected without a division.

The Voerwaerts, the leading Socialist organ, is distributing extras this afternoon, declaring that the hour has struck for the masses to demand representation in Parliament.

Prince von Buelow admitted in debate that the system required reform. The Government had been studying the question for a long time, he said, but he did not yet know exactly what direction the reform would take. The Conservative party, he declared, would not permit the solid foundations of the Prussian elective system to be shaken. He said the demonstrations in the streets this morning had not made the slightest impression on the Government. He concluded his remarks amid a storm of hisses and cheers.

Riots at Night.

Last night no fewer than 35 Socialist mass meetings were held in Berlin, as well as many others in the country districts, in favor of the movement. Today before the Landtag convened Socialists to the number of 1000 marched in procession before the Parliament Building. This demonstration assumed a somewhat threatening aspect and a large body of police was called to the scene. They surrounded the entrances to the building, but there was no actual disorder.

WOMEN DRESSED FASHIONABLY ARE HELD FOR FRAUD

Arrested in West End on Charge of Trying to Short-Change Merchant.

On a charge of attempting to short-change R. T. Wartmann, a baker at 1038 North Vandeventer avenue, Mrs. Sarah Stewart, 1394 Burd avenue, and Mrs. Molly Wolford Kelsey, 5508A Wells avenue, both fashionably dressed, were locked up in the Dayton Street Police Station.

Mrs. Kelsey made a confession to the police Friday morning, in which she stated that she had met Mrs. Stewart in Topeka, Kan., recently and that the former had brought her to St. Louis to teach her the art of short-changing.

According to the story of Wartmann the two women entered his bakery Thursday night and Mrs. Stewart offered a $10 bill in payment for a 10-cent purchase.

Wartmann made the change, giving a $5 bill, two $2 bills and the balance in silver. Mrs. Stewart, he stated, then discovered that she had a $1 bill and asked for a $5 bill in exchange for the two $2 bills and the $1 bill. Wartmann gave her the $5 and started to wait on another customer before the woman gave him the smaller bills.

When he returned she stated that she would rather have a $10 bill after all, he asserts, and handed him two fives. He asked her to wait a minute, he says, when she became excited and threatened his arrest if he did not give her the money at once.

At this point Julius Bramsch, 1026 North Vandeventer avenue, entered the store, Wartmann alleges, and told of a visit the two women had made to his jewelry store a few minutes before. Then the women fled, Wartmann asserts, and he called an officer.

While Wartmann was seeking an officer, Mrs. Kelsey fled from the store and boarded a car. She was arrested later at her home.

Mrs. Stewart is a handsome brunette, 24 years old, and her companion, who confesses to 26 years, is a striking blonde. Mrs. Kelsey is a vaudeville performer. Mrs. Stewart denies that she knows anything about short changing.

Mrs. Stewart says her husband is C. W. Stewart, a traveling salesman for a Chicago hardware house. Her parents live in Topeka. The police were unable to get any statement from her touching the short-changing charge, and she gave information with great reluctance as to her name. Mrs. Kelsey says Mrs. Stewart's maiden name was Signa Johnson.

EXTRA SESSIONS TO CHANGE BOND MEASURE ERROR

Free Bridge Bill Will Be Passed by Assembly as Emergency.

Owing to a mistake in transmitting to the Municipal Assembly an incorrect copy of a bill authorizing the Mayor and Comptroller to issue bonds in denominations of $500 and $100, the measure will have to be repealed and a new one passed.

Comptroller Player drew up such a bill and sent it to Billon & Hubbard of New York, experts in municipal securities, for examination. They returned the measure with an amendment to the effect that the old ordinance governing the bonds and rate of interest should remain as it was except as modified by the new ordinance.

Instead of sending this to the House of Delegates, the Comptroller sent the copy of it minus the amendment and it was passed. It will now have to be repealed and that which was examined by Billon & Hubbard passed.

An emergency clause will be attached making the new ordinance a law as soon as signed by the Mayor, instead of waiting the usual ten days. In order to hurry its passage the House of Delegates and the Council will hold extra sessions.

These bonds are for the purpose of raising money for building the free bridge and the Insane Asylum and other purposes, the total amount being $11,200,000.

ARCHITECT, LIKE MAYOR, SUES SKYSCRAPER COMPANY

H. F. Roach Wants $30,226 for His Work at Broadway and Olive.

Harry F. Roach, an architect, filed suit against the La Salle Investment Co. in the Circuit Court Friday for $30,226.51. He alleges that he drew the plans and was to supervise the construction of the company's 18-story skyscraper on the northwest corner of Broadway and Olive street, and that for his services he was to receive 5 per cent of the cost of the building.

On Dec. 24 last, he says there was due to him $13,776.51 for actual work done, and he alleges also that the company owes him $16,450 for preliminary work.

Mayor Wells, owner of the corner, Thursday sued the La Salle company for $20,794.83 for rental and taxes on the skyscraper site.

WIFE OF MINISTER BEGGED COL. SNELL TO LOVE HER ONLY

Lawyers Find Letter in Which She Pleads for Millionaire's Affection ---and Some Diamonds.

ARMED DEPUTIES GUARD NOTES FROM MANY WOMEN

Maybelle Snell-McNamara, 24, Chief Among the Fair Ones Who Wooed 80-Year-Old Capitalist by Mail—Banker Testifies "Tom" Gave Her $75,000.

LOVE LETTERS OF A BLONDE OF 24 TO A MILLIONAIRE OF 80

HERE are some excerpts from the love letters of Maybelle Snell-McNamara, 24 and blonde, to millionaire "Tom" Snell, 80 and gray:

"Sweetest darling, time hangs so heavy when I am not with you to enjoy your smiles and see your love for me."

"Darling, you know love doesn't pay for bread or buy good clothes. It will take $500 at least to buy the things I need—perhaps more. Thousands of sweetest kisses, hugs and lots more from your own baby."

"I love you with all the passion woman ever felt for man. I love you so much more than any of your relatives love you that there is no comparison, and you know that this is true."

"It doesn't seem as if I could wait another 24 hours before seeing you again. Only to have you take me in your arms, and to feel your warm kisses on my lips. Come, dearest, and we will take a long trip to the South."

"Sweetest darling, years have passed since I saw you—at any rate it seems hardly possible that it is only days since we were together."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CLINTON, Ill., Jan. 10.—Among the love literature accumulated by the late Col. Tom Snell, millionaire of 80 years, has been found a letter which shows that fair Maybelle Snell, the 24-year-old "grandniece," had a rival for the affections of the old capitalist in the person of the wife of a minister. A perfumed note that tells the story of her great love, and, incidentally, contains a suggestion that Col. Tom buy her a diamond or two, fell into the lawyers' hands today and will be read to the jury. It bears the writer's full name.

The minsiter's wife writes with some feeling about "other women" who were receiving attentions and presents from the Colonel, and insists that they did not love him with half the intensity of the affection she felt for him. She liked jewelry pretty well, too, as her letter shows, but it is not recorded whether her fondness for diamonds paid any dividends.

Throughout her letter she uses dashes instead of the names of the women to whom she refers. One paragraph says: "You know why —— is friendly with you. I am friendly with you because of my love for you." She urges him to visit her home, "as my husband is away," and adds, as a special inducement, "You can play with the little girl." Then comes another request for a diamond.

Col. Tom's amazing collection of love letters includes many from some of the leading society women of Clinton, as well as scores from Maybelle Snell. Some could be published, some could not; all will be read to the jury which is trying the suit of the Colonel's son, Richard, to break the will which cut him off with an income of $50 a year from the estate of $2,000,000.

Deputy sheriffs guard these letters day and night, sleeping in the late millionaire's mansion where the records of his conquests are under lock and key. The lawyers for the son have received information from Kansas City, where Maybelle Snell, now Mrs. McNamara lives, that men are in Clinton under instructions to obtain the Colonel's letters at any hazard, and they will be guarded by armed deputies until they are placed before the jury.

Spent $75,000 on Maybelle.

The greater part of the court proceedings today was consumed in hearing evidence regarding the characteristics of the eccentric millionaire and arguments on the admission of the certificate showing the filing of the will.

L. R. Murphy, cashier of the State National Bank, took the stand and under direct examination told that just before the death of Col. Snell the latter had come to his place of business and, in discussing his affairs, told Mr. Murphy that he had already spent $200,000 on his son, Richard Snell, in various ways and did not intend that his son should receive any more of his money or property.

He also told Mr. Murphy that in recent years he had spent a total of $75,000 on Maybelle Snell and intended to continue to do so. He said Snell told him it was his intention to see that the girl should be provided for as long as she lived.

An effort was made to have Mr. Murphy testify to the issuance of money to persons other than Maybelle

POISON FOUND IN WIFE'S STOMACH, HUSBAND IS HELD

Ephraim Vancil of Lawrence, Kan., Charged With Wife Murder.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Jan. 10.—Ephraim Vancil has been ordered by a Coroner's jury to be held for trial on a charge of murder. The action of the jury was taken when a report had been received from Prof. E. H. S. Bailey of the University of Kansas to the effect that the stomach of Mrs. Della Vancil, wife of the accused man, contained a large amount of arsenic.

Mrs. Vancil died last Sunday night. It was given out at the time that her death was caused by heart disease, brought by an attack of grip. Later the following note was found in her bed:

"Don't blame any one for this. I have intended doing this for some time, but never had a chance. DELLA."

Neighbors Were Suspicious.

Neighbors, who did not believe that Mrs. Vancil died of heart disease, secured the arrest of Vancil. They said that Vancil had neglected his wife of late. It was also asserted that Mrs. Vancil did not write the letter.

An effort is now being made to determine whether or not the writing was that of Mrs. Vancil. John Thornton of Iola, Kan., a brother of Mrs. Vancil, says that it is not.

ADAIR, ILL., BANK VAULT IS BLOWN BY ROBBERS

Amount Taken Unknown, but Is Said to Be Several Thousand Dollars.

MACOMB, Ill., Jan. 10.—The Bank of Adair was robbed early today by safe-blowers. All the currency was taken. The exact amount is unknown, but is several thousand dollars.

There is no clew to the identity of the robbers. Adair is a small town about ten miles from here.

HOWE FIGHTS PRIMARY MOVE AGAINST TAFT

Secretary's Faction Wants Delegation to Go Instructed.

COURTS AS A RESORT

Opposition Threatened to Be Carried Onto the Convention Floor.

Jeptha D. Howe, Chairman of the Republican City Committee, told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that he will contest before the Board of Election Commissioners the right of the congressional committees of the Tenth and Eleventh districts to call a direct primary to nominate delegates to the Republican National Convention.

Mr. Howe contends that there is no authority under the primary laws of Missouri for electing delegates to a national convention by direct primary, and that such a procedure is in violation of the call of the national committee, which provides that the delegates must be elected by conventions.

Will Fight in Courts.

Mr. Howe said that in the event the Board of Election Commissioners does not declare the primaries illegal and refuses to recognize the calls of the congressional committees, the fight will be carried to the courts, and then to the floor of the national convention.

The calling of direct primaries, under the influence of Thomas K. Niedringhaus and his followers, is carrying out the plans of Speaker Joseph G. Cannon and Joseph Keeler, campaign manager for Vice-President Fairbanks, who conferred with Niedringhaus and others in St. Louis a week ago last Sunday. If Niedringhaus is able to carry out this program it will mean that the delegates from the three St. Louis districts will go uninstructed to the national convention, regardless of the fact that the State Committee has declared for Taft.

Two Districts Decide.

The Congressional Committee of the Tenth District decided to hold a direct primary at a meeting Thursday night. The Eleventh District Committee at a meeting Wednesday night, took the same action. The Twelfth District Committee will meet Feb. 15 to decide whether to elect delegates by convention or direct primary.

The Congressional committees have selected three of their numbers to name the primary judges and clerks. Howe maintains that this gives the Niedringhaus faction the power to select the election officials who will count the votes.

"The call of the National Committee directs that the Congressional District delegates shall be selected by conventions called by the Republican Congressional Committee of each district," said Howe, "but it further provides that they may be elected in conformity to the election laws of the State in which the elections are held. The primary laws of this State provide only for primary elections for the nomination of candidates for public office, or for the managing officials of political parties. There is no provision for primaries for the election of delegates to a national convention.

In Factional Interest.

"I make the charge that the calling of these direct primaries is done in the direct interest of Cannon and Fairbanks by men who are pretending to be friendly to Taft, and that Niedringhaus, McCoy, Owens, and others associated with them, by denying all other delegations the privilege of representation in the selection of judges and clerks, are taking an unfair advantage for the purpose of controlling the results of the primaries. I want to know why they will not give us representation in this very important political matter.

"The friends of Secretary Taft do not intend to stand by and see his chance slaughtered in this manner."

MODIFIED INJUNCTION IS DENIED TO LABOR FEDERATION

Unions Say Order Obtained by St. Louisans Abridges Speech, but Court Overrules Plea.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Justice Gould of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia today overruled a motion of the American Federation of Labor to amend the Court's order in the case of the Buck's Stove and Range Co. of St. Louis, in which the Court recently temporarily enjoined the federation from placing the company on a boycott and unfair list in the federation publications.

The motion of the federation contended that the order was erroneous, because it was made to run until the final decree in the case, instead of until the further order of the Court, because it may be construed to enjoin the defendants from uniting to agree not to use the plaintiff's products; or construed to prevent the defendants and their associates from saying to others that they had united and combined not to use such products; or construed to enjoin their announcing that they had combined not to deal with others who should deal with the company. The motion also contended that the order abridges freedom of speech of all the defendants and freedom of the press, "which is protected by the first amendment to the Constitution of the United States."

The Court decided that it would not alter the order in any way.

Estelle Metz Returns Home.

Miss Estelle Metz, who mysteriously disappeared from home several days ago, and was found in New Orleans by her brother-in-law, B. A. Steege, who went there to bring her home, arrived in St. Louis Friday morning. She is with her mother at 5203 Minerva avenue.

PRINCIPALS IN FIGHT FOR LATE RAILROAD BUILDER'S WEALTH

THOMAS SNELL, millionaire railroad builder, died last June at the age of 90. Will prohibited distribution of his $2,000,000 estate until after the death of all living heirs. Cut only son off wth $50 a year. Said to have lavished money on Maybelle Snell, then 24 years old, whom he called "grandniece."

MAYBELLE SNELL, now Mrs. McNamara, whom Col. Snell met in Kansas City when he was 69 years old, is a handsome blonde, well educated. Her torrid love letters to the late millionaire figure in present court proceedings. She is said to have obtained $50,000 in cash and $25,000 worth of real estate from him. Disinherited relatives say they never heard of her until will was probated, although she was called "grandniece" by Snell. He frequently visited her in Kansas City.

RICHARD SNELL, only son of dead millionaire. Of an estate of $2,000,000 he was left an annuity of $50. Was chosen by other disinherited relatives to lead the fight to break the will. Exhibits correspondence between his father and Maybelle Snell to support his contention that at the time the will was drawn Col. Snell's mind was unbalanced by the young woman's "immoral influence."

VESPASIAN WARNER, United States Commissioner of Pensions, who, recently contesting an effort to break his father's will, contended that his stepmother was a negress. In the Snell proceedings Warner testified that, in his opinion, Col. Snell was of sound mind when the famous will was drawn. Said Col. Snell was very positive in his opinion, and "could swear eloquently, but not artistically."

SNELL'S OATHS ELOQUENT, BUT NOT ARTISTIC

Asked as to the manner in which Mr. Snell showered money upon Maybelle Snell and other young girls of the city, Mr. Murphy was only allowed to testify to amounts received by Mabelle Snell. He verified the statements of witnesses for the complainants that Maybelle had been the recipient of large sums of money from the deceased, but it was his opinion that Col. Snell was well aware of the value and extent of his beneficence and was able to judge for himself as to whether it was right or wrong. He was of the opinion that Mr. Snell was in his right mind at the time of the making of the will, and that his conduct toward the young women of the city was nothing more than that of an "old fool."

It is reported that a conference was held shortly after the noon adjournment between the counsel for the complainants and the defendants, at which the advisability of effecting a settlement with Richard Snell was discussed in order to avoid the scandal which is certain to follow the expose of those who had been receiving funds from the aged millionaire. Several houses now standing in Clinton as ornaments to the city and considered monuments of the great ability of certain of Clinton's business men are said to have been purchased with "blood" money.

She Needed About $500.

One of the letters from Maybelle to Col. Tom follows:

"Sweetest Darling: Years have passed since I saw you—at any rate it seems hardly possible that it is only days since we were together. Time hangs so heavy when I am not with you to enjoy your smiles and see your love for me.

"Now, darling, I am sorry I have to speak of other matters just now, but you know love doesn't pay for bread or buy good clothes. I need both, more of the latter than of the former. I want the clothes because it makes you happy to see me look well. It takes hard dollars to be dressed well and you, dearie, are to provide them. It will take $500 at least to buy the things that I want—perhaps more.

"Now, don't fail me, dearest. Remember my position and send it.

"Thousands of sweetest kisses, hugs, and lots more, from your own,

"BABY."

Wanted His Kisses.

Another letter says:

"My Dearest Sweetheart—Your letter, written Sunday afternoon, was received today. You can't imagine how glad I was to see your dear handwriting on the envelope the postman handed to me, for just think, dearest, I have not received a line from you for a solid week.

"You say one of those relatives of yours had spoken slurringly about my character in your presence. Of course you know better than to let them influence you against me. You do know how I love you, dearest, now, don't you?

"I love you with all the passion woman ever felt for man. I love you so much more than any of your relatives love you that there is no comparison, and you know that this is true. Will you take the next train and come out to see me? It doesn't seem as if I could wait another 24 hours before seeing you again. Only to have you take me in your arms, and to feel your warm kisses on my lips! Come, dearest, and we will take a long trip to the South—just you and I and mother. I shall expect you within a week.

"YOUR OWN MAYBELLE."

Oaths Were Not Artistic.

Vespasian Warner, United States Commissioner of Pensions, who recently resisted an attempt to break his father's will and alleged that his stepmother was a negress, was the principal witness yesterday. Mr. Warner said that he knew Col. Snell and believed he was sane when he drew up the strange will. The witness said the Colonel was a man of very positive opinions, who at times "swore eloquently but not artistically." The lawyers wanted to know how Mr. Warner drew this distinction in profanity, and the witness explained that the old millionaire could not swear for more than five minutes without repeating.

Fifteen for Col. Tom.

Fifteen witnesses testified that they believe the eccentric old capitalist was sound mentally when he drew up the will, which provides that the $2,000,000 estate must not be divided until all the living heirs, including several grandchildren now in their infancy, have passed away. By that time, it is estimated, the real estate which constitutes the greater part of the estate will have attained a value of a billion dollars.

Although Col. Tom took every precaution the law affords to keep his property out of the hands of his immediate relatives, he was more generous with Maybelle. He was 69 years old when he met her in Kansas; she was 24. Until the day of his death—he was 90 when he passed away—he maintained a correspondence with Maybelle which was so torrid that several of the letters, now in the hands of Judge W. G. Cochrane for the jury's inspection, cannot be published. Maybelle was and still is a handsome blonde, well educated and with a personality so attractive to Col. Tom that, so his son alleges, he gave his "niece" some $50,000 in cash, principally as payment for kisses, and some $25,000 worth of real estate.

They Ignore Maybelle.

The relatives who are suing to break the will—the son as plaintiff represents scores who believe they should have been beneficiaries—say they never heard of the charming Maybelle until they read the document which disinherited them. Maybelle, on the other hand, says they knew her well, and that they wrote frequently inviting her to visit them in their various homes in Central Illinois.

Maybelle lives in Kansas City, where she married recently. One of her fervent letters to Col. Tom, referring to a trip she was to take through the South with him, suggested that they take "Walter" along—not that she cared for "Walter," but in order that the Colonel might see them together and convince himself that there was no love case.

EMPLOYES BLAMED FOR DEATH OF MRS. KLUTE

Coroner's Jury Disregards Burns on Woman Who Fell Down Shaft.

Negligence of the employes of the Lincoln Trust Building was blamed by the Coroner Friday for the death of Mrs. Katherine Klute, aged 65, of 2803 Gamble street, who was killed Wednesday by falling down the elevator shaft of the building. The doors leading to the elevator shaft were not properly secured, read the report of the inquest.

The Coroner took no cognizance of the burns found on Mrs. Klute's mouth, which were at first thought to have been caused by carbolic acid, but were afterwards attributed to the hot steam pipes at the bottom of the shaft.

Several employes at the building testified that the doors to the shaft could not be opened save from the inside. They could not explain how Mrs. Klute gained access to the shaft.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

Dean Corlis' Father Dead

George L. Corlis, dean of the Benton College, is back in St. Louis, after a trip to Metropolis, Ill., where he buried his father, Edwin Corlis, 64 years old. The elder Corlis was buried with Masonic and Odd Fellows honors.

Restored Health.—"My husband and I took Hood's Sarsaparilla after a severe attack of the grip which reduced us very low. It gave us appetite and strength and restored our health." Mrs. Tho. Gilpatrick, North Gray, Me.

Unequalled—"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has completely cured me of the grip. It is unequalled as a blood purifier." I. E. Davidson, Kappa, Ill.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold everywhere. In the usual liquid, or in tablet form called Sarsatabs. One hundred doses one dollar.

RICH RIVER MAN IS FOUND DEAD ON HIS YACHT

LOCKED IN HIS CABIN

One Mark on Body Is Only Evidence of Violence Found.

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 10.—A case which may prove to be a mysterious murder, for which robbery is supposed to have been the motive, or the result of apoplexy, was uncovered today when the body of Charles H. Howard, a wealthy veteran of the Civil War and owner of St. Louis real estate, was found in his launch, the Rambler, at the foot of Combia street, Newport, Ky., just across the river from here. The discovery was made by a policeman who had been notified by members of the Newport Boat Club that Howard had not been seen about his boat during the day.

The officer found the door of the little cabin on the Rambler so tightly locked that he was obliged to take the door off its hinges. The door evidently had been locked from the outside. Howard's body was found lying face downward in the middle of the floor. It was partly divested of clothing which seemed to have been torn off forcibly. There were also other evidences of a struggle, but the only mark of violence on the body was a slight abrasion on the back of the head.

Well Known on River.

Howard has been a familiar character along the Ohio River for some time, living alone in the large gasoline launch since the separation from his wife several years ago. He had considerable means and the launch was the finest plying on the Ohio. He purchased it in Boston a little more than a year ago.

A newspaper clipping telling of a divorce suit that is pending in Los Angeles, Cal., states that Howard is the owner of property in St. Louis worth $40,000, and that his holdings in Los Angeles are valued at $45,000.

Receipts for 6000 shares of Armigoza mining stock and 5000 shares of Chloride mining stock and certificates showing that Howard was a member in good standing of Pasadena (Cal.) Lodge, Knights of Pythias, and Stanton Lodge, G. A. R., in Los Angeles, were found. A few days ago Howard told several members of the boat club that he intended to settle up his affairs in Cincinnati, sell his launch and move to California.

Murder Theory Accepted.

Coroner Digby of Newport believes Howard might have been killed by gas fumes from the engine in his boat, but the police do not consider this likely and are working on the theory that the aged man was murdered some time Wednesday night. There was no odor of gas in the cabin when the body was found. Howard lived in Newport about twenty-five years ago. He was about 66 years old.

WILLIAMS' BROTHER STARTS SEARCH FOR MISSING MAN

He Believes His Relative Has Fallen Into Hands of Enemies.

R. E. Williams of Muskogee, I. T., a brother of Henry C. Williams, 28 years old, who disappeared Dec. 21 last from his rooming house, 106A North Twelfth street, has arrived in the city to search for his brother.

Williams came to St. Louis in response of a telephone from Mrs. Aurelia Devoto, at whose house Williams boarded. Henry Williams left his room Dec. 21 last, after paying Mrs. Devoto for room and board. He told her that he would pay a few minor debts he owed her after Christmas.

Williams thinks his brother has fallen into the hands of enemies He said his brother carried considerable money. Young Williams had been confined in the City Hospital for 10 days about a week prior to his disappearance. A. C. Hobart roomed with Williams. Both were employed at the Mercantile Club.

Williams is 5 feet 8 inches tall, and weighed 150 pounds. He has a light complexion, brown hair, blue eyes and when last seen he wore a black suit, black overcoat, black lace shoes and a black derby hat.

MILITIA ORDINANCE WILL DIE, SAY HOUSE LEADERS

Opposition of Organized Labor Deals Death Blow to Measure.

The ordinance appropriating $25,000 for the First Regiment, Missouri Militia, and $9500 for Battery A, which has been slumbering in the Committee of Ways and Means of the House of Delegates since July, when it was passed by the Council, will be chloroformed into fatal sleep, according to leaders in the House. Only a public protest can save the message.

Delegate "Jiggers" Gallagher, who says he is a union man and voices union sentiment, says he will oppose the bill because organized labor does not wish a well-equipped militia to be at the hand of the authorities to "oppress strikers and protect employers."

Chairman James T. Brennan of the Ways and Means Committee says that he opposes the bill. It would burden the people of St. Louis with a tax which should be defrayed by the whole State, he says.

Wife's Baths Cause Divorce Suit.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 10.—On the ground that her husband always wanted to be present on the occasion when she took a bath, and that he became angry when she performed her ablutions in his absence, Mrs. Hazel Bowers Ross has brought suit for divorce against Samuel S. Ross. He says it is a case of too much mother-in-law.

QUEER MALADY PREVAILS IN LANSING, BUT PERSONS FIRST STRICKEN RECOVER

Health Board Blames Atmospherical Conditions, Said to Have Produced Germ.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 10.—The peculiar malady with which three-fourths of the inhabitants of Lansing and its immediate vicinity have been seized in the last 72 hours still prevails, but the severity of the attack is diminishing and many of the patients have recovered, although new cases are being reported.

Business, which has been retarded, has begun to resume its usual course, and attendance at schools is increased, but is still below the normal.

In nearly every instance patients were seized with extreme nausea, and acute intestinal disturbance and often with fever. Frank W. Shumay, Secretary of the State Board of Health, discussing the strange outbreak, said today:

"I think it may be due to atmospherical conditions producing a germ attacking the stomach and intestinal organs, such condition being local in extent, as similar outbreaks have not been reported except from places in the immediate vicinity of Lansing and particularly to the south and west. Analysis made of the city water supply by this department shows it to be perfectly free from animal matter or harmful bacteria and its chemical properties are excellent and not in any sense harmful."

CONGRESS WANTS DETAILED REPORT ON NATIONAL BANKS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The House of Representatives today adopted a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for information concerning national banks.

The figures asked for include the number of banks and their capitalization, the amount of public money in each and the list of securities given by the bankers. The resolution also calls for the amount of bank notes each has in circulation.

Seven Thousand Bottles on Board.

Each of the new turbine steamers Lusitania and Mauretania has 7000 bottles of Bass ale on board every time she leaves Liverpool for New York—a fact which the English newspapers regard as giving additional and emphatic proof of the "all-British" character of these giant liners.

ILLINOIS GIRL ACQUITTED OF MURDERING HER FIANCE

Man's Dying Statement Was That Young Woman Fired Fatal Shot.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MARION, Ill., Jan. 10.—Nora Turner, 20 years old, has been acquitted by a jury in the Williamson County Circuit Court of the charge of murdering her fiance, Robert Kennedy. In his dying statement Kennedy said that Miss Turner shot him. The girl's defense was that Kennedy shot her and then shot himself during a scuffle with her. There were no witnesses to the tragedy.

The couple had been sweethearts from youth. The evidence showed that on Feb. 17, 1907, they had a quarrel, which was renewed on the following day. Kennedy is said to have refused to meet certain demands made by the young woman. Two shots were fired during the trouble, and, when the room was broken open, the couple were found unconscious. Kennedy died soon after his removal to a hospital.

Photograph Invisible Comets.

The astronomer, P. Stroobant, explained to the French Academy of Sciences recently the utility of longpose astronomical photographs in furnishing data for calculating the orbits of comets. Such photographs record the traces of faint comets when they are too far from the sun to be seen with telescopes. Thus they greatly extend the distance over which the path of the comet can be marked out, and this is of extreme importance in calculating with accuracy the elements of its orbit. When a new comet has once become visible the method pursued by Stroobant is to search for its earlier traces on the photographic negatives of the observations.

WORKERS FIGHT FIRE CLOSE TO TONS OF POWDER

HOMES ARE WRECKED

Handsome East Side Suburban Residences Damaged by Concussion.

DETAILS OF THE POWDER EXPLOSION ON EAST SIDE

Amount of powder blown up, 32,500 pounds.

Loss of powder and buildings, $50,000.

Amount of powder in magazine, saved, 200,000 pounds.

Radius of shock, 40 miles.

Cause, a hot box in gearing, from which fire spread along ground to glazing house.

A great gash in the earth and slopes bared of everything except the shattered trunks of trees, mark the spot and tell the story of the explosion of the glaze mill of the Phoenix powder plant in the timbered hills half way between Belleville and East St. Louis, which shook St. Louis and the surrounding towns at 10:30 o'clock Thursday night.

That there was not another and far more violent explosion was due to 40 men who beat out the flames that were creeping through underbrush toward the magazine, in which is stored ten times as much powder as was contained in the glazing mill.

No lives were lost and only a few persons were injured by broken glass and other fragments in the houses of the neighborhood, which were shattered by the force of the concussion.

Alarm Is Soon Given.

Discovery of the fire five minutes before the explosion and the prompt giving of the alarm by employes prevented greater injuries, if not fatalities.

The glazing mill, a 40 by 80 foot structure, occupied a cup-like depression among the hills. No men were at work there at night, but it was kept in operation by means of shafting from the engine house, controlled at a gear house a few feet from the glazing mill, which was visited every hour by John Kohl, the night watchman.

When Peter Humes, a wheelman, at work at the wheelhouse, half a mile from the glazing mill, saw a glare in that direction at 10:25 he ran down to the engine house and the engineer, Otis Hughes. He sounded the fire signal on the whistle, and the seven men at work about the plant ran for safety. They were, besides the three mentioned, Charles Hughes, fireman, and Harry Nelson, Adam Hall and Ray Berry, wheelmen.

Charles Hughes ran among the residences on Briar Hill shouting a warning and the aroused inmates fled.

The fire was in the gearhouse, and is said to have been caused by a hot box. Exactly at 10:30, as shown by the clocks stopped by the shock, the explosion came. Men, women and children, fleeing for safety, were dashed to the ground. Windows in all the houses within a radius of two miles were shattered. It was heard with terrifying distinctnesss in St. Louis, East St. Louis, Belleville and for distances of 40 miles. The shock was felt in some places 60 miles away.

The concussion partly wrecked the magazine and the corning mill, each several hundred yards away.

Doors Are Blown Off.

The residence most damaged was that of P. J. Carpenter, the superintendent, on Briar Hill, nearest the scene. All of the windows were shattered, doors were blown off their hinges and the plastering was shaken from the walls. Folding doors on the first floor were shattered and blown from their casings.

Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter had run out of the house with the four children when the whistle blew and were running away when the explosion occurred.

An increasing glare over the hilltop indicated that the leaves and underbrush were burning. Superintendent Carpenter rallied the employes and volunteers, and at great peril they fought the flames with blankets and clubs and prevented them from reaching the magazine and the corning mill.

There had been 32,500 pounds of powder in the glazing mill, but in the magazine there were 200,000 pounds and in the Corning mill a great quantity also.

Mrs. Joseph Havel received the most severe injuries. She was standing at the window of her home on Briar Hill when the explosion came, holding her baby in her arms. The sash was blown in, striking her. She fell to the floor, unconscious, with cuts about the head and face.

Boy Is Severely Cut.

Robert Cermak, 14-year-old son of Joseph Cermak, was severely cut by broken glass. A number of others received painful, but not serious, bruises and cuts. Mrs. N. Toler was in a hysterical condition for hours after the explosion. The wife of Peter Humes was so excited that when her husband reached his home from the mill she did not recognize him, but thought he had come to tell her of the death of her husband. When she did recognize him she fainted in his arms.

A fragment of casting weighing 11 pounds crashed through the roof of the engine room of the American Carbon Co., half a mile away, and Frank Saul, the engineer, narrowly escaped injury. Pieces of casting were found Friday a mile from the scene of the explosion. Dominick Recklein, hunting Friday near the tollgate at the eastern limits of East St. Louis, found a powder-burned brick which evidently had been hurled four miles through the air.

A barrel was carried through the air three-quarters of a mile to Signal Hill and falling fragments also set fire to the grass there. The new residences of Carr Smith, Harry Gillen, C. M. Gray, Congressman Rodenberg, Edward Goedde and Edward Woodson, on fashionable Signal Hill place, all were damaged.

When the explosion occurred an East St. Louis & Suburban car, eastbound, was passing Gintz Station, three-quarters of a mile from the mill. Conductor Rooney saw the flash and shouted "down," and some of the passengers dropped to the floor. Claude Barnes, the motorman, was shaken from his stool. The bowl of a briar pipe was blown through a window of the smoking compartment. Several of the other windows are broken.

Lives Lost Before.

The plate-glass fronts of business places at Edgemont were blown in. Some windows were broken in Belleville and East St. Louis.

Persons who saw the flash say that a great mass of flame shot several hundred feet into the air and that fragments fell like a shower of skyrockets.

The explosion was the fourth one within a few years. In the others lives were lost.

Although the report and shock were distinctly heard and felt all over St. Louis, the only damage was the breaking of a plate-glass window at the store of the Lammert Furniture Co., at Fourth and St. Charles streets. Everybody believed that the explosion had occurred in St. Louis. Firemen hitched their horses and waited for an alarm. Theater audiences were made uneasy by the sound, but there was nothing approaching a panic.

Windows were broken at Alton and there was a panic at the Temple Theater. A boy cried "fire" and persons rushed toward the exits. Emma de Wees, 14 years old, was trampled upon. Mrs. F. D. Barrioz fainted and fell under the feet of the crowd. Manager Sauvage rushed on the stage and reassured the audience.

In East St. Louis it was believed for a time that safe blowers had robbed the Postoffice and the police surrounded the building.

Dispatches from Carlinville, Ill., and other places as far as 60 miles from St. Louis tell of the shock being felt. It was thought in these places to be an earthquake.

For fear that a spark from the smoldering timbers of the gear house might set off the magazine and destroy many lives, Supt. Carpenter had a squad of deputies sent to the plant Friday morning by Sheriff Cashell. They picketed the 200 acres owned by the company and prevented sightseers from going near the scene of the explosion.

HOW TONS OF POWDER GO THROUGH ST. LOUIS STREETS

POWDER and dynamite amounting from 25 to 30 tons is shipped and hauled into St. Louis and St. Louis County daily, for use principally in quarries. This does not include the many carloads which pass through the city bound for points West, Southwest and Northwest.

Over Eads Bridge passes daily a procession of wagons carrying kegs of powder and boxes of dynamite from the East Side railroad yards to St. Louis quarries. These wagons often pass over Washington avenue to Twelfth street, turning there to proceed to South Side quarries, or continue further west, sometimes to Grand avenue, to drive to points in North St. Louis and the West End.

These powder wagons are ordinary wagons, in which the kegs and boxes are placed upright, covered with heavy cloths. They look like other loaded wagons, except that the driver does not smoke.

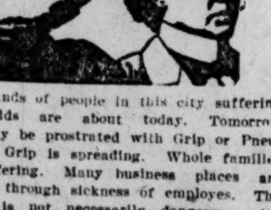
Every quarry in and a round St. Louis is a powder repository. Each keeps on hand not less than 10 kegs of powder, and an equal or larger amount of dynamite.

The Jefferson Barracks powder repository, while keeping on hand a larger quantity of powder than any quarry or group of quarries, handles only a high grade of cartridge powder, instead of the blasting powder used by the quarries. No dynamite is kept at the Barracks.

GRIP

Thousands Are Prostrated

Mills, Factories, Railroads, Stores and Nearly All Industries Are Crippled



Thousands of people in this city suffering with colds are about today. Tomorrow they may be prostrated with Grip or Pneumonia. Grip is spreading. Whole families are suffering. Many business places are crippled through sickness of employes. The disease is not necessarily dangerous with proper care and the right remedies. It is almost suicide to depend on quinine and whisky or home decoctions. Don't trifle with a cold. Either take my Cold or Grip Cure or call in a competent physician. I can't say what your doctor will do for you, but I do know that my Cold and Grip Cure will speedily break up all forms of colds and grip. It checks discharges of the Nose and Eyes, stops sneezing, promptly relieves the Throat and Lungs, allays Inflammation and Fever, and tones up the system. It cures Headaches and Dizziness accompanying the symptoms of Grip, produces sleep and restores strength to the body. It is invaluable in all forms of Indigestion or obstinate colds.—MUNYON.

POLITICAL "AD" BOOMS THE CIGAR MAN'S BUSINESS

Promise to Pay Men Attending Public Meetings Brings Stream of Customers.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—There's a growing suspicion around North avenue and Clark street that Albert Cornish wants to sell out.

The following advertisement, inserted in a morning paper brought a seemingly endless procession of applicants to the tobacconists:

GENTLEMEN Wtd.—To attend 20 political meetings; salary $5 for each meeting. Apply cigar store, 492 E. North av.

"What sort of a scheme is this?" asked one man early in the day.

"Are you from the North Side?" responded Mr. Cornish. "Write your name and address down. You will receive a letter some time next month explaining all details.

Mr. Cornish said the advertisement meant just what it said, but he wasn't paying any retaining fees. Neither was Mr. Cornish handing out any cigars. Interested neighbors said the applicants bought cigars.

"It has no political significance at all," said one politician. "Mr. Cornish bought this cigar store two weeks ago for $125. I understand he would like to sell out. It is easier to sell if there are a lot of people coming into the store, isn't it? There are no political meetings in the precinct next month."

FLEET'S 10-DAY STAY AT RIO WILL BE MADE A LIVELY ONE

Official Program of Entertainment, Approved by Ambassador, Is Announced.

RIO JANEIRO, Jan. 10.—The official and final program for the entertainment of the officers of the American battleship fleet under Rear Admiral Evans, which is due here tomorrow, was made known today. It has been approved by Irving B. Dudley, the American Ambassador, and is as follows:

Jan. 12—Officers of the fleet will visit the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Baron de Rio Branco.

Jan. 13—Visit to Dr. Fenna, President of the Republic, at Petropolis; in the evening a banquet at the American embassy at Petropolis.

Jan. 14—Breakfast given by the Minister of Marine, Admiral Alencar, on Mount Corcovado.

Jan. 15—Breakfast given by the President of the Republic at Petropolis and a garden party by the American Embassy.

Jan. 16—Fete by the American colony at Fluminen's Park.

Jan. 17—Picnic given by the Minister of Marines to the botanical gardens.

Jan. 13—Banquet given by the Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Monroe Pavilion.

Jan. 19—Picnic given by the Brazilian Navy at Tijuca Park.

On Jan. 20 there probably will be a reception on board some of the American battleships. The fleet is scheduled to leave Jan. 21.

Cannon Cracker Takes Boy's Hand.

TREZEVANT, Tenn., Jan ..—George, the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eff Adams, will probably lose his right hand through the explosion of a cannon cracker, left over from the holidays. George lighted the cracker, but thought the fuse had gone out.

PROMINENT PHYSICIANS

Endorse Our Cod Liver Preparation, Vinol.

Many of the most eminent physicians are now prescribing Vinol as the most satisfactory cod liver preparation. Thus it is fast superseding other forms of cod liver oil and emulsions.

W. N. Rand, M. D., of Evans Mills, N. Y., writes: "From personal experience, I am able to appreciate the value of your cod liver preparation, Vinol. I have used it and prescribed it largely during the past eighteen months, and I want to say that Vinol is all you claim for it and more."

Dr. Bonchelle of Thomasville, Ga., a physician well known in the South, writes: "I use Vinol in my family and in my general practice with most excellent results for bronchial and pulmonary troubles and to create strength."

Another physician writes: "I am satisfied that Vinol derives its wonderful live-giving and strength-creating power from the medicinal curative elements found in the cod's liver. it is the most satisfactory strength creator and vitalizer for old people, weak women and delicate children which it has ever been my pleasure to prescribe."

The reason that Vinol has such remarkable curative and strength-creating power is because it is made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate of iron (which is a needful constituent for the blood) all the medicinal, healing and body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

We ask every person in St. Louis, Mo., who is in need of such a medicine to try Vinol on our guarantee to return money if it fails to give satisfaction. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo.

HID SHORTAGE TO SAVE NAME, SAYS RUNDER

Baumhoff and "Dave" Dyer Will Testify in Defense.

In his cross-examination Friday afternoon, Francis B. Runder, former cashier of the Postoffice, being tried on the charge of embezzling $7979.91 of the office's funds, testified that from seventy-five to one hundred shortages, in amounts ranging from $20 to $800, occurred in the office during his administration. The cross-examination followed his direct testimony in his own defense in the United States District Court.

He said he did not report the shortages because he believed they would reflect on his standing as cashier, and because he hoped the mistakes would be discovered or the money found.

He declared he did not get any of the money and did not know who did get it. He replied with an indignant negative to a question of Attorney Daues, who asked if he had not been pocketing the money.

He admitted having told relatives that he had used $3000 of his mother's money to cover a postoffice shortage, but said this story was false when he told it, and that he told it to keep the money from being used by one of the family in an unpromising investment.

Runder said that he received no instruction from Postmaster Wyman as to the manner of depositing money in the Subtreasury. Neither, he said, did Baumhoff, Wyman's predecessor, give him any such instructions.

In answer to the question what funds were on hand Jan. 2, 1904, he said he could not tell, and no one could tell.

Motions to Acquit Overruled.

Runder's defense opened Friday. Two motions that the jury be ordered to acquit Runder were overruled by Judge Carland.

The question whether Postmaster Wyman's receipt, given to Baumhoff when the office changed hands, covered the $6500 shortage is perhaps the most important one that has been raised.

Assistant Postmaster Stice, formerly a Postoffice Inspector, testified to Runder's statement, made to him, that the money had been taken during the Wyman administration, to fill up a deficit under the Baumhoff regime.

Attorney Clopton, representing Runder, asked Stice if it was not a fact that Wyman gave Baumhoff a receipt in full.

"I know that he did not give him a receipt in full," replied Stice.

"What amount was excepted from his receipt?"

"About $7000."

Why I Lost My Job.

Reasons Why Thousands Like Me Cannot Satisfy Their Employers.

I believe my fate is not unlike that of thousands of other workers who daily lose their places for reasons they do not know, and probably would not believe. When their last pay envelope comes along it is usually "Your services no longer required." If the truth were known, the reason for their unceremonious removal would probably be that their usefulness was destroyed because of some mental worry, bodily ailment or general indisposition. These things, as we all know, are the most fruitful causes of failure in all walks of life. The battle of Waterloo was lost because of a headache. In this quick age our minds must be clear, rapid, active and free from outside influence or worry, or else we go down to failure with the throng of "floaters" who go from one place of employment to another, giving no satisfaction to others or to themselves, constantly growing older and less useful, with no ambition, no will power and no hope.

Every man requires from every other man the best that is in him. But no man can use or get the best that is in himself until he is first free from all fretful indispositions and worries.

That was my trouble. I was full of troubles. That's why I lost my job. My stomach in the first place was always out of order, and I was worrying about it and my mind grew cloudy and slow. I made mistakes, and grew grouchy. That was the end.

There are thousands like me, going about with "quick lunch" faces, dyspeptic manners, and repulsive atmospheres. No employer wants such men's services.

Take my advice. A healthy stomach is half the battle, for it keeps your mind clear, and your face rosy. I have a healthy stomach now and hold a good position, and my employer is satisfied, and so am I.

I started to take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which I was told were good for the worst cases of indigestion and dyspepsia. The first two tablets made a wonderful difference in my condition.

One ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digests 3000 grains of food. The stomach doesn't have to work at all. The Tablets do all the work, no matter how heavy your meal.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure brash, eructations, burning sensations, bloat, irritations, loss of appetite, nausea, heartburn, lack of energy, loss of memory, and dyspepsia and indigestion in their very worst forms.

No other little tablets in the world can do so much. You should carry them around with you wherever you go and take them regularly after meals. Then you will realize what it is to be freed from stomach torment, and have a clear mind, a quick memory, a happy disposition, comfort and rest.' Get Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store for 50c a package.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

COURT FREEING SCHMITZ SCORED BY TRIAL JUDGE

Jurist Says Appellate Reviewers Had Relatives Indicted With Mayor.

BONDS ARE PROHIBITIVE

Imprisoned Men Are Fighting for Reduction of Bail.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Eugene Schmits and Abe Ruef, who received a decision in their favor from the District Court of Appeals, are today both in the County Jail in custody of the new Sheriff. They will appeal in court this morning when an effort will be made to have their bonds reduced.

Schmitz is held on 45 indictments, with bonds to the amount of $400,000. Ruef is held on 122 indictments, his bonds amounting to $1,570,000. If their request for a reduction is not complied with in the lower court, both will take the case direct to the Supreme Court.

The cases of Patrick Calhoun, Thornwell Mullally, William M. Abbott, Tirey L. Ford, Ruef, Schmitz and former Supervisor P. P. Bicholas come up for trial on bribery charges at the same time.

Prosecution to Continue.

According to the statements of the prosecution, the decision will not affect the trial of Schmitz and Ruef on the other charges against them, which will be proceeded with as rapidly as possible.

The statement issued by Judge Dunne of the trial court that convicted Schmitz, scoring the members of the Court of Appeals, has created almost as much of a sensation as the decision. After saying he regretted that the decision should have been made by a court "whose members have relatives indicted for the same offenses involved in Schmitz's case," he concluded with:

"The jury which returned this verdict will be remembered with respect and honor in the community long after the court which set aside the verdict has been forgotten."

BRYAN SAYS HE WILL BE NOMINEE AGAINST CANNON

DANVILLE, Ill., Jan. 10.—W. J. Bryan, who spoke last night at a banquet tendered him by the Bryan Democrats, declared it his belief that Speaker Joseph G. Cannon would be the Republican candidate for President and that he (Bryan) would oppose Mr. Cannon.

Mr. Bryan spoke on "The Issues of the Hour," the second speech of the present Illinois campaign, criticising the actions of the administration and suggesting remedies for affairs financial, the curbing of the Eastern banks, Wall street and the centralization of wealth. His offerings probably would be made light of by the opposition, he said, and he again would be referred to as a dreamer. He said there was not a plank in the Chicago platform of 1896 that was not stronger now and that there was not a plank in the Republican platform of that year which was not weaker. Every principle held then by the Democratic party had been vindicated, he said.

HADLEY TAKES STATEMENTS FROM INSURANCE COMPANIES

Evidence in Suit to Annul 67 Charters Is Heard at Southern Hotel.

Attorney-General Hadley's quest for evidence in his suit to annul the charters of 67 insurance companies comprising the Western Union was renewed at the Southern Hotel Friday, when P. D. McGregor, manager of the Queen Insurance Co. of Chicago and John Marshall of Chicago, secretary of the Western Union, were examined.

The Attorney-General charges that the insurance companies in this organization are in a conspiracy to control rates, using for that purpose what is known as the Waterworth tariff, by means of which uniform schedules are maintained.

McGregor denied that there was any unlawful agreement among the insurance companies, but said they did use certain tariffs as the basis of rates, although the companies were not bound by these tariffs.

Marshall's testimony was mostly of a technical nature and dealt with the rules of the Western Union. Mr. Hadley expected to obtain from Marshall the correspondence that passed between the Western Union and its members, but was informed that these letters were in the custody of W. W. Dudley, secretary of the Governing Committee of the Western Union.

BUILDING TRADES' STRIKE OFF

Compromise Wage Scale Is Adopted by Belleville Workmen.

The strike of the carpenters, hodcarriers and bricklayers in Belleville, which has practically tied up building operations there since last May, was officially declared at an end Thursday night, and the men went to work Friday at 50 cents an hour, the compromise wage.

When the Carpenters' Union declared the strike, the men were getting 47½ cents an hour, and demanded 52½ cents. The State Board of Arbitration suggested 50 cents an hour, but the carpenters refused it, and the hodcarriers and bricklayers struck through sympathy.

At a meeting of the Joint Committee of the unions and the Master Builders' Association the compromise wage was accepted by the carpenters, and an agreement was made to settle future disagreements by arbitration.

ROBERT E. LEE, NAME URGED FOR PUBLIC SCHOOL

Southerners Quote Roosevelt to Show General Should Be Honored.

Representatives of St. Louis' Southern families have framed a petition, signed by several hundred citizens, requesting the Board of Education to name the new public high school to be erected on Union avenue the Robert E. Lee High School.

The petition recites the fact that in the past schools and high schools have been christened by the board in honor of McKinley, Yeatman, Bates, Blair, Farragut, Fremont, Garfield, Grant, Howard, Lincoln, Lyon, Sherman, Shields, Sigel and Sumner; that St. Louis is a cosmopolitan city and that it is only proper that a Southern general's memory should be commemorated in this way.

The petition recites President Roosevelt's eulogy of Gen. Lee that he "will undoubtedly rank as, without exception, the very greatest of all the captains that the English-speaking people have brought forth," and also the statement of the President at another time that "I hope you will appeal to all our people in every section of the country to commemorate his (Gen. Lee's) life and deeds by the establishment at some good representative educational institution a permanent memorial."

Among the prominent citizens who signed the petition are: David R. Francis, R. J. Lackland, Walker Hill, Thomas H. West, Tom Randolph, Julius S. Walsh, Festus J. Wade, C. H. Huttig, William H. Thompson, Breckinridge Jones, John F. Lee, Charles P. Senter, Sam M. Kennard, David Eiseman, Seth W. Cobb, Gen. B. G. Farrar, Col. Robert Buchanan, Selden P. Spencer, Alexander Douglas, George T. ## TENNESSEE GAINS 25 INSURANCE COMPANIES, LOSES 14 BY NEW LAW

Several New Bidders for Business Are Home Associations, Two Mutuals.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. .—There has been a net increase during the year in the number of insurance companies operating in Tennessee.

Under laws enacted by the last Legislature two county mutuals have been formed and two fraternal associations have commenced business. The Independent Life Insurance Co. has recently completed its organization also and began writing business with the new year. In addition to these, the following new companies have been licensed to do business during the year in Tennessee: Fire insurance companies, 16; foreign life, 3; casualty, 1; total, 20. Add to these the fire companies including fraternals, organized in the State, and there is a total of 25 new companies operating in Tennessee.

Fourteen companies withdrew during the yead, six of theme life companies.

BRYAN DENIES DAUGHTER AND HER HUSBAND ARE ESTRANGED

No Foundation for the Story of Marital Trouble, He Declares.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DANVILLE, Ill., Jan. 10.—William J. Bryan emphatically denounced as untrue the story that his daughter and her husband are estranged.

"Is there any foundation for the story?" Mr. Bryan was then asked.

"No, there is nothing in it whatever," he replied.

Woman Has Read 15,000 Books.

From the Chicago Journal.

"Our reading record," said the aged librarian, "is held by a rich old lady of 73 years. She has read, our books show, over 15,000 volumes—300 volumes a year since 1854.

"Our average subscriber reads in the year's course from 75 to 100 volumes, though we have many clients who get through 200 volumes every twelve-month.

"They who buy their books read much less. The book-buyer who reads 100 books a year is a very rare bird."

There's quite a Row about Unsanitary Bakeshops

We don't know how bad or how good they are.

The papers say some startling things and the health boards are stirred up.

It seems an opportune time to say that the most nourishing bread in existence is not in the shape of bread at all, but is composed of granules.

That's GRAPE-NUTS.

No bread in the world is so nutritious, for Grape-Nuts food is made of entire wheat and barley and goes through various processes of baking, during which the starch part is turned into a form of sugar to be seen glistening in minute particles on each granule of Grape-Nuts. The food is the easiest to digest in the entire list of all foods and it will pay to use it in place of white bread and observe how well you feel.

The factories are the world's standard for cleanliness and sanitary conditions.

Scores of visitors are escorted thru the factories each day and see just how Grape-Nuts and Postum are made and how immaculately clean every nook and corner is.

Come, you are all welcome.

If you can't come, send a postal with address carefully written and we'll mail free the beautifully illustrated book, "The Door Unbolted."

It takes one all thru and the pictures show the interesting machines at work.

Grape-Nuts food and Postum are never touched by human hands in the process of making.

PAVER, QUOTED PRICE BY COYNE, IS QUESTIONED

T. McAnulty, Former Barber Representative, Before Grand Jury.

BRIBERY IS CHARGED

Money Passed for the Awarding of Contracts, It Is Said.

James T. McAnulty, former representative of the Barber Asphalt Co., was a witness before the grand jury Friday afternoon in its investigation of the influences behind the delay in paving legislation, and the favors shown to certain contractors.

As was told in the Post-Dispatch's original expose of the paving scandal last October, McAnulty had an interview with William R. Coyne, who was regarded as an agent of the House of Delegates combine, about paving matters.

In this interview McAnulty has admitted, he told Coyne that the asphalt companies "might pay 10 cents a yard, the old price," for legislation. Coyne's reply was that no asphalt bill would be passed for less than 25 cents a square yard, it is said.

Other witnesses Friday afternoon were Foxhall McCormick, a paving contractor; Sewer Commissioner Fardwell and C. D. Buntin, treasurer of the Granite-Bituminous Paving Co.

Money Dealt Freely.

An official at the Four Courts told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that the grand jury has learned that large sums of money have been spent by a paving company for "promotion expenses" in St. Louis. He said the evidence now in hand points to the fact that preparations were being made for the use of "promotion" money to procure favorable action on bills now pending in the Municipal Assembly.

It is believed by the grand jury that several street paving bills were held up by the House of Delegates pending negotiations between promotion agents and legislative agents. When these negotiations failed the bills were killed.

The grand jury has found that the difficulty in the way of the investigation is that Eastern agents of the paving company visited St. Louis to disburse the promotion fund, and then disappeared. While the local company has charged large sums for expenses, the resident managers say they have no knowledge as to how it was used. The grand jury is anxious to get information on this subject.

Agents Worked Discretely.

The identity of the traveling agents, according to Four Courts information, was often unknown to either the local manager or the persons with whom they did business. The legislative agent would be instructed to meet a stranger of a certain description at a designated time and place, and there the funds would change hands. The work was carried on with such system and secrecy that detection was almost impossible.

Among the witnesses examined Thursday were ex-Street Commissioner M. J. Murphy, ex-City Register P. R. FitzGibbon, who represents several asphalt companies; ex-Park Commissioner Robert Aull and some paving contractors. Delegates Gevers and Gallagher of the Public Improvements Committee of the House of Delegates were also examined. Delegate Bourg was excused until Friday.

The grand jury is trying to find some lead that will produce specific information as to graft in street improvement matters. For two days the grand jury has devoted almost its entire attention to paving investigation. The members of the grand jury are working with energy, and are anxious to procure evidence that will clear up the questions that are now difficult of solution.

"Inferior Material Used"

Ex-City Register FitzGibbon said before going into the grand jury room that much inferior material has been used in making St. Louis streets. He said if the proper kind of asphalt were used streets would wear for many years under almost any kind of traffic. He said that Broadway in New York was paved with asphalt by one of the companies he represents, and that it stood the heaviest traffic without much signs of wear. Locust street, from Fourteenth street to Jefferson avenue, is paved with the same kind of material. This paving was laid many years ago, and although the traffic has always been heavy, very little repairs have been necessary, he says.

Ex-Park Commissioner Aull was questioned relative to the manner of handling street improvement matters in the Board of Public Improvements while he was a member. He was also asked whether any member of the board showed unusual interest in certain paving materials.

"SURPRISE" KILLS INVALID

RISING SUN, Md., Jan. 10.—Startled by the entrance into the house of a troup of merry friends who had come to give him a surprise party and to wish him a good time on his journey South, where he was going in search of health, George Simmers suddenly expired.

Simmers, who was recovering from a severe attack of measles, was seated in an easy chair by the fire, and when his friends entered unexpectedly he turned pale and closed his eyes. The first of the visitors to greet him discovered that he was dead. He leaves a widow and four children.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

COURTROOM OF SPORTS SAY DOGS ONLY "RASTLED"

Raid on Pit by Police Finds Thirty Men Cheering the Canines.

Judge Pollard's court looked like a political meeting place for an hour Friday morning when 30 sports and near-sports were marshaled before the bench charged technically with cruelty to animals, but really with having been witnesses at a dog fight in the basement of a stable at 2734 Franklin avenue Thursday night.

The Dayton Street police had received a tip that a dog fight was in progress and Sergt. Gleason, accompanied by Patrolmen Hare, Doyle, Stapleton, Smith, Sprague, Brennan and O'Neil went to the stable. The only entrance was over the room of a one-story building next door. Officer Hare climbed to the roof, jumped down on a butcher wagon and from there to the ground and opened a gate to admit the others. After guarding the cellar door they leaped through a window into the basement.

Thirty men were grouped around a pit made of chicken coops and barrels, inside of which two brindle bulldogs were industriously endeavoring to eat one another alive. They were urged on by the two men in the pit, aided by the shouts of the spectators. They were making so much noise that they were not aware of the presence of the police until Sergt. Gleason jumped into the pit and declared them all under arrest.

Police Drench Dogs.

Then it was for the police to get the dogs separated. They clung to one another like leaches and would not let go until they had been thoroughly drenched with water.

This was the testimony of the police in court, to which John W. McCullough, who acted for the sports, took exception. He and Duncan were said to be the handlers of the two dogs in the pit.

McCullough and Duncan were fined $100 each and took appeals.

INTENDED BRIDE STEALS TO GET $150 TROUSSEAU

Annie Stober's Arrest at Dance Caused Breaking Up of Party.

Annie Stober, who confessed to the police that she stole $150 worth of gowns, linen and jewelry from her employer in order to supply herself with a trousseau, is held in the matron's detention room at Police Headquarters under an information issued yesterday charging her with grand larceny.

She was arrested at 310 Wingstanley avenue, East St. Louis, while dancing at a party, by Special Officers Dempsey and Tischemacher of the Deer Street Station. The throng of merrymakers scattered in dismay after the entrance of the detectives.

The young woman was employed until Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. S. S. Steiner of 1128 Aubert avenue. At 3:30 p. m., being alone in the house with Mrs. Steiner's two small children, the girl locked them up in separate rooms and ransacked Mrs. Steiner's closets for everything which would be useful to a young bride.

Even Took Baby Clothes.

Among the articles stolen, found later by the police in the home of a friend of the girl in East St. Louis, were ribbons, a sterling silver hand mirror, a black voile dress, three satin belts, face powder, several bars of perfumed soap, silver spoons, a tablecloth, napkins, gloves, handkerchiefs, hose, 18 spools of silk thread, towels, a gold brooch, stick pins, a ring and a locket.

Even baby dresses, caps and bibs were taken by the farsighted bride-to-be. She also took two small banks, containing money, which belonged to the Steiner children.

To Collect Burton's Fine.

United States District Attorney Blodgett has asked United States Circuit Clerk Gray for an execution against former Senator Joseph Ralph Burton of Kansas to enforce the collection of the $2500 fine which was assessed against Burton for using his official position as a Senator to protect the Rialto Grain and Securities Co. Efforts of the Government to collect the fine have so far been in vain.

VILLAGE SMITH SUED BY WIFE AFTER ARREST

Deserted Woman Asks for Maintenance and Child Custody.

ROMANCE GROWS FAST

Mrs. Elias Already Has One Suit Against Widow for Alienation.

The fourth chapter in the romance of Daniel E. Morris and Mrs. Catherine Elias, rich widow of Lebanon, Ill., was opened Friday afternoon when Mrs. Morris, in the Belleville Circuit Court filed suit against her husband for separate maintenance and for the custody of her 11-year-old son, Charles.

She alleges that her husband has been cruel to her since their marriage, Dec. 20, 1893, and she mentions the name of Mrs. Elias. She says that her husband has property valued at $7000 and an income of $1200 a year.

The preceding chapter in the romance of the village blacksmith and the rich widow will be completed Saturday, when he will be tried in the court of Justice Gelking upon a charge of disturbing the peace of his wife.

Before Mrs. Elias' husband died he left her in care of his friend, the blacksmith, with instructions as to her personal and property interests.

The first chapter in the romance came when Mrs. Morris, wife of the blacksmith, sued the widow for $25,000 damages on a charge of alienating the affections of her husband. She alleged that until the fair widow was put into his care Mr. Morris was a model husband.

Began to "Spruce Up."

But he soon began to "spruce up" and to wear "boiled shirts" and to put on a clean collar every day, she said. This was rather unusual for a blacksmith, especially one who was past middle age and had grown children. She watched him and, she alleges, she found him paying too much attention to the widow.

The second chapter deals with the disappearance of the blacksmith and the widow. She mortgaged her home, loaded her furniture on a large van, and rode through the village atop of her belongings. Where she went the gossips of the village have been unable to discover. The blacksmith too, went away soon.

The Blacksmith Returns.

The third chapter began with the return Wednesday of the blacksmith. As soon as he closed his house and went away, his wife, who had left him when she sued, quietly returned to the house to live there. The blacksmith was notified of that by two of his grown children, who, it is said, take sides with him. He returned Thursday night and tried to get into the house. His wife says she heard him prying at windows and trying the door knobs. But she was fortified against an invasion of this kind, and even the skill of a blacksmith could not move the bolts and bars of her doors and windows.

Thursday she swore out a warrant for his arrest for disturbing her peace and the case will be tried Saturday.

The blacksmith is six feet tall and of powerful build.

FIRE BURNS TOWN'S TWO BANKS AND TIES UP CASH

Supposed Incendiary Flames Do $200,000 Damage in Albion, Ill., Business District.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ALBION, Ill., Jan. 10.—Fire at 2 a. m. today, supposed to have been of incendiary origin, caused a loss of $200,000, and, by the destruction of two bank buildings, tied up practically all available cash in the town and paralyzed business. The buildings destroyed were the Edwards County Bank, the new Albion National Bank, which had not been occupied; the clothing stores of W. A. Schock and George C. Spiller, the shoe store of R. W. Curdling, the drug store of B. F. Michels & Son and the Albion telephone exchange. The losers carried insurance for one-third of the amount of damage.

SEVEN KILLED WHEN TRAINS CRASH TOGETHER ON BRIDGE

Dead Are Two Railroad Men and Five Convicts, Reports Say.

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 10.—Seven persons are reported to have been killed and several injured today in a collision between a passenger train and freight train on the Alabama & Mississippi Railroad near Vinegar Bend, Ala.

The wreck occurred on a bridge spanning a ravine at a sharp curve. The force of the collision caused both engines and part of the trains to crash through the trestle to the bottom of the ravine 20 feet below.

Among those reported killed are: C. C. Busbee, a section foreman; Henry Paine, a fireman, and five convicts.

Engineer Frank Marks of Vinegar Bend is reported fatally injured.

Wreck Kills Mother and Sons.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Jan. 10.—Southbound train No. 10, Sunset Express, on the Southern Pacific Railroad, was wrecked last evening at Rucker, 25 miles below here, and Mrs. A. P. Boyd and her little son of Portland, Ore., were killed. Mrs. Boyd was the wife of the Rev. A. P. Boyd, until recently pastor of the Sellwood Methodist Church at Portland.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

WALSH TESTIMONY TO BE FINISHED THIS AFTERNOON

Prosecution Expects Conviction, Defense Says Evidence Showed No Wrong Intent.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Judge Anderson this noon said he expected the taking of testimony in the trial of Banker John R. Walsh to end this evening. He has planned to adjourn court until Monday when the arguments will begin. Assistant District Attorney Dobyns, before the close of the case, said:

"Walsh has admitted everything he could without entering a formal plea of guilty. I do not think there can be any doubt of conviction."

John S. Miller, attorney for Walsh said:

"Mr. Walsh, I feel sure, has shown the jury that he had no wrong intent. I think that he will be acquitted."

Hydraulics 400 Years Ago.

Water pipes of terra cotta were used in Crete 40 centuries ago. Those supplying drinking water consisted of a series of subconical tubes socketed into each other with collars and "stop ridges," so constructed as to give the water a shooting motion, thus preventing accumulation of sediment.

FIRST TUNNEL OF NEW YORK SERIES OPENED

Tube to Brooklyn Carries 30,000 Passengers the First Day.

The East River tunnel, which was begun in 1903 and opened for traffic Thursday, runs from Bowling Green Station, at the Battery, New York, to Borough Hall, Brooklyn, a distance of one and one-half miles.

It is the first to open of a group of 14 "tubes" that are being pushed under the waters that surround Manhattan Island, the total cost of which is estimated at $200,000,000.

This tunnel is of importance as a link in the rapid transit service connecting New York proper with Brooklyn, as it will enable express trains to pass from the Bronx direct to the center of Brooklyn, a distance of 16 miles, in 57 minutes, with a 5-cent fare.

Only one of the two "tubes" of this tunnel is actually ready for traffic, but operation began by conveying 30,000 passengers an hour, without, however appreciably relieving the crush at the Brooklyn Bridge.

When the tunnel was opened, the bells of Brooklyn were rung and that borough celebrated the event. New York, however, barely noticed it, the tremendous improvements going on there making the opening of a single "tube" appear insignificant.

Half a Billion for Rollin Stock.

The year 1907 surpassed all previous years in the output of cars and locomotives. An expenditure of $470,000,000 by the railroads for new rolling stock is the estimate for the year made by the Railroad Gazette.

Cause for Congratulation.

From Pele Mele.

Playwright: What! M. Bluff is ill?

Theater Manager's Wife: Yes, the doctor has just gone and he says that my husband has only four hours to live.

Playwright: Four hours! Good. I shall still have time to read him my new comedy.

YOUNG "BANDIT" LOOKS READY TO CRY AT A "BOO"

Harry Land, Minister's Pretty Son, Has Mannerism of Fudge Party Lion.

EYES ARE APPEALING

But His Popgun Revolver and "Suspicious" Mask Cause Detention.

If Harry Land, minister's son, is a real, sure-enough bandit, as the police say he is, then his looks belie him. So far as appearances go, he is merely a pretty boy, with pink and downy cheeks, a soft, babyish mouth and eyes clear as a child's.

As he stood beside his father, the Rev. H. G. Land, a Union Mission worker, in Chief Creecy's office, he looked so juvenile that the only thing to do was order him sent before the Juvenile Court. This the Chief did, and he was sent to the House of Detention. His father's statement that the boy was only 15 years old was readily believed. His "pal," Lee Cornell, who is 17, who was sent to Police Court on a charge of idling, was fined $50 by Judge Tracy Friday.

The two youths, in setting out on their career as highwaymen, made the mistake of trying to rob two plain clothes policemen. They were captured easily, and the fact that two St. Louis County saloons were robbed by youths two nights before, and a man murdered, made things look very uncomfortable for them until witnesses appeared who said they were not the county robbers.

Looks Like Good Boy.

Harry affects the little mannerisms of the boy who is the whole thing at church sociables and fudge parties. His tie is about the smallest bow it is possible to tie. His eyes are large and clear, and look as if one said "Boo" he would burst out crying. His dark hair is abundant, and one fat lock trails across his forehead diagonally and pokes itself into his eye.

When he talks his lips tremble and his eyes take on a soft look. One would as likely expect to be stopped on the highway and robbed by a pet bunny as by Harry Land. Probably you have seen that picture of Cupid hiding behind a tree, with a black mask on and armed to the teeth with candy hearts to waylay a spooning couple approaching through the woods. Well, put a few clothes on him and you have an impression of Harry Land as a highwayman.

But then there is the black mask and the revolver in the hands of the police. To be sure, the black mask looks bad for young Land, but the revolver—it is to laugh. The revolver has a barrel hardly as long as your forefinger, and it fires a pellet as big as a homeopathic pill, and only one at a time. It was not loaded when the policemen arrested the boys in the alley between Morgan street and Lucas avenue and there were no cartridges in his pocket.

Says He Feared Robbers

But again the black mask comes into the picture, and there seems to be no excuse for it except as a "property" for a robber. It is a plain black cotton visor with a curtain, such as the merry revelers don at Turner Hall when the Jolly Four give their annual masked ball.

In explanation of the revolver Harry says that he borrowed it to frighten away robbers. He was stopped and robbed of $5.25 during the shoe strike, he says, and has gone "armed" ever since.

Wednesday night, he says, he went to see when H. B. Frost was coming back home. Frost is the leader of a play that is produced in churches. Its title is "The Living Cross," and Harry was to have been an actor in it. Frost had been out of town and Harry says he went to the house of H. Malone, 2210A Washington avenue, where Frost lives, to learn when he would return. He was accompanied by Cornell.

After they left Malone's house, they went into the alley for a moment. While there the police appeared and arrested them, after accusing them of having been engaged in robbery in St. Louis County.

Has Good Reputation.

That is Harry's story, except that he has always been a good boy, and has always gone to church and Sunday School. He had been employed since last August by Erker Bros. until last Saturday night, when he was laid off.

But it was learned from one of Harry's former employes that he had been in the habit of going to a burlesque theater, and had been admonished against it.

Look at Harry and you would say he would not purloin a bit of fudge from the jar on the center table. But then there is the black mask—what do you know about black masks?

Boys Held on Suspicion.

Six youths, ranging in age from 16 to 22 years, are locked up in the Clayton Jail on the charge of vagrancy while waiting to be confronted with eye-witnesses of the saloon robberies in Ferguson and Normandy Wednesday night, in the latter of which a bartender was killed.

The boys, all of whom live in Wellston, were arrested last night by Deputy Sheriff Capmbell and Deputy Constables Bode and Schoenbern. They are Otto Aubuchon, Fred Von Dey, Dan Tooney, Maurice Pressy, John Caldwell and Frank Zykan.

BIG LUMBER DEAL ENDS FEUD THAT COST 3 LIVES

Property at Clio, Ark., Where Battle Recently Occurred, Is Transferred.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Jan. 10.—D. H. Duncan and John F. Rutherford today purchased the entire holdings of J. B. York, Robert York and C. L. Browning in the Bluff City Lumber Co. The consideration is about $1,000,000. The deal brought about a settlement of differences which have existed between the Rutherford and Yorks stockholders in the company for many months.

The troubles between the two factions resulted in the killing of three men at Clio, Cleveland County, and the implication of many well-to-do people in the affair. Several indictments are now pending against accused men in the triple tragedy.

CROWDS GAPE WHILE STEEPLEJACK, 290 FEET IN AIR, PAINTS FLAGSTAFF

Nearly 300 feet in air, a steeplejack calmly varnished the flagstaff on the Holland Building Thursday, his seat, swung in rope tackle, swaying gently with the stiff wind, while crowds along Olive and Seventh streets gaped at the spider-like figure outlined against the sky.

The Holland Building is 13 stories high, and the great golden ball which tops the flagstaff looks from the ground to be about the size of an apple. It is 290 feet from Seventh street.

The steeplejack is R. Johnson, who is in business with E. L. Johnson and F. E. Daerda. They usually take turns at the high climbing, but the Holland Building flagstaff is so slender that the lightest man in the trio was sent aloft.

BUSINESS NORMAL, SAYS GAINES

President of Company Controlling Houses Here Pleased.

Col. A. B. Gaines of Englewood, N. J., president of the company that operates the Jefferson and Planters hotels, is stopping at the Jefferson on his annual journey to Hot Springs, Ark., where his company operates two other large hostelries.

"I am glad to find that the hotel business in St. Louis has resumed its normal stage," he told a Post-Dispatch reporter. "The fact that there are as many guests at the Planters and Jefferson now as there were three months ago is evidence that financial conditions are again normal. There was a marked decrease in hotel patronage during the 'stringency' days of November and December."

Mr. Gaines said he is glad to learn that all of St. Louis' financial institutions weathered the recent storm successfully, and that fact is something this city may be proud of

Terrible Liquor Craving

How Orrine Destroys All Desire for Whiskey and Beer.

The terrible craving for liquor is a symptom of disease and to overcome it the disease itself should be treated in a scientific way. When one has used whiskey, beer or other stimulants for a long time, the nerve cells have become accustomed to the effects of the stimulants and demand liquor in order to perform their duties. If the nerve cells are properly treated, the craving for liquor will be destroyed.

It is in this way that Orrine cures alcoholism, by supplying to the nerve cells the strength needed, thus destroying the desire for liquor. It eradicates every particle of the terrible liquor craving, imparts new strength and vigor to the whole system, and restores the general health. Treatise on "Drunkenness" free on request. The Orrine Co., Washington, D. C.

So successful has Orrine been that in every box is a registered guarantee which entitles you to a refund of your money if Orrine fails to effect a cure. Never before was a treatment for the liquor habit sold in this way. A guarantee like this shows the faith of the discoverer of Orrine and the agents who handle it, the leading druggists everywhere.

Orrine is in two forms—No. 1, which can be given secretly in food or drink; No. 2 in pill form for those who desire to be cured. Either form costs $1 per box, and both are sold under the liberal guarantee that your money will be refunded if Orrine fails to cure.

Orrine is for sale by Wolff-Wilson Drug Co.

LIBRARY STATISTICS SHOW READERS PREFER FICTION

To One Book of Philosophy 100 Stories Are Read, Says Librarian—History Is Not Attractive to Many Patrons.

St. Louis book readers love fiction. Statistics prepared by Assistant Librarian Blackwelder of the Public Library show that more fiction is read by the public than any other branch of literature. Philosophy, the works of Socrates, Plato, Spencer and Kant, are rudely ignored by the public. To one book of philosophy, 100 books of fiction are read.

Fiction is followed by juvenile books. Natural science, including mathematics, chemistry, astronomy, botany and geology, are the third most read books. Poetry follows natural science, and is followed by social science—the works of improving the slums, politics, state affairs and education. Philosophy is last in line. History, both ancient and modern, is read but little.

Dumas and Hugo Popular.

"The Count of Monte Cristo," by Dumas, and "Les Miserables," by Hugo, are the most read books in the fiction class.

The Public Library has over 100 copies of each book and they are ever on the go. On Dec. 28, of the 2600 books distributed, 1300 were of fiction. Juvenile claimed 650, natural science 98, poetry 58, history 50, social science 32 and philosophy 16.

"The works of Dickens are read throughout the year," said Mr. Blackwelder, "as are the works of Longfellow. The public in general seems to be in too big a hurry to read poetry, and seems to have absolutely no taste for philosophy."

Card Holders Number 70,266.

More than 70,266 persons in St. Louis own library cards, and these read 1,543,137 books during the last year. This was an increase of 108,285 books over 1906.

The Barr Branch distributed 12½ per cent of all the books distributed, and the Cabanne branch 13½ per cent. The rest was distributed at the main branch.

Big Hippopotamus Is Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Caliph, the hippopotamus at the Central Park menagerie, died at 8:30 o'clock last night. His wife, Miss Murphy, was at his bedside and wept crocodile tears. So did Little Tim, their son. The death is especially untimely, coming when the family had grand expectations. Miss Murphy is inconsolable.

WHO'S A DECENT DEMOCRAT? ASKS PARTY LEADERS

Controversy Started by Coale's Requirements for Club Membership.

KINNEY IS INDIGNANT

He Says Men Jeffersonians Need Are Not "Blue Stockings."

> "DECENT DEMOCRAT" IN REPUBLICAN EYE
>
> Jeptha D. Howe, chairman of the Republican City Central Committee: A decent Democrat is one who won't stuff a ballot box.

President Ralph Coale's statement that only "decent Democrats" are wanted in the Jefferson Club has aroused much discussion as to exactly what qualifications are demanded of would-be members of the organization Harry B. Hawes made famous.

To enlighten persons who may be in the dark as to the precise meaning of "decent Democrat" the Post-Dispatch asked a number of well-known politicians to define the phrase. Here are some of the replies:

Coale Requires Loyalty.

President Coale says a decent Democrat is one who joins the club and does not violate article 4 of the club's constitution.

This article makes it compulsory on all members of the club not to violate any pledge they may have taken as a ward, precinct or congressional committeeman, not to be disloyal to the Democratic party, not to join any club, clique or faction whose aims and objects are antagonistic to the Jefferson Club, not to be guilty of disorderly conduct, not to use vulgar or profane language in the club house and not to disclose or aid in disclosing club secrets.

John W. Drabelle, lawyer and former State Senator: A decent Democrat is a decent man, who is loyal to his friends, and, above all, loyal to the Democratic party.

Edward J. O'Neill, member of the Board of Education: A decent Democrat is a man who believes in good government and the principles of the Democratic party and who votes the Democratic ticket.

All Decent, Says Hussey.

Delegate Frank Hussey: I think Harry (meaning Harry B. Hawes) is mixed in his grammar. I don't think he means that (that only decent Democrats are wanted in the Jefferson Club) because there are no Democrats except decent Democrats. I suppose Harry thinks there are no decent Democrats except those who come from Kentucky. The kind of Democrats Harry wants in the club, I guess, is the kind they have in the Street Department. Here is a sample. A foreman at Grand avenue and Natural Bridge road last week asked one of the men under him how to get to Grand and Cass avenues. I think, to be a decent Democrat in St. Louis, he ought to learn more about the city.

Delegate "Jiggers" Gallagher of the Third Ward: There ain't no meanin' to "decent Democrat." I never belonged to the Jefferson Club, anyhow. Guess they only want Democrats from Kentucky out there.

Kinney Opposes a Boss.

"Decent Democrats!" exclaimed Senator Tom Kinney. "Why, all Democrats are decent."

"Ralph Coale thinks there are some indecent ones," remarked one of Kinney's constituents, who stood near.

"Is Ralph Coale going to be the arbiter of morals in the Jefferson Club?" asked Kinney, indignantly. "If so, we might as well make him absolute dictator at once.

"If I have to define a 'decent Democrat,' I will say that he is one who reads the Declaration of Independence every Fourth of July, who pays his debts and is just to his fellow-man. And the decent Democrat is close to the people, too, and is no blue stocking. He sees that bosses are made by the people, not that the people are sorted into good and bad by some arbitrary boss."

Harry B. Hawes, who is supposed to be the man behind the Jefferson Club headsman:

"A decent Democrat is one who takes an active interest in the primary elections of his party by advocating the nomination of good men for local offices, and of men who, in addition to being good men, believe in the true principles of Democracy for national offices.

"A decent Democrat may be a hodcarrier or a millionaire. He may have only 30 cents in his pocket or three millions in bank. He may be a society leader or a man who has never worn a dress suit.

"His decency as a Democrat is not affected by the way he cuts his hair or trims his beard. His decency as a Democrat is entirely dependent upon what he advocates within his party's organization. Occupation, social position, financial standing or religious belief does not affect his Democracy. The average man predominates and controls elections."

EDISON PLAN FOR ERECTING HOUSE IN DAY TO BE FREE

Inventor Says Only Restriction Will Be That Designs Meet His Approval and That Good Material Be Used.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Thomas A. Edison, in answer to many inquiries from Western trades unions on his plans for cement houses, has written this letter, dated Orange, N. J., Jan. 6:

"I now have a model, one-fourth the size of the house, designed by New York architects.

"This winter I shall construct the iron molds and devise machinery whereby a full-sized house can be cast in 12 hours after the molds are in position. At the end of six days the iron molds are removed and the house will be complete, including stairs, partitions, mantels, bath, etc., and after drying six days will probably be ready for occupancy.

"To build this house for $1000 it is essential that it be erected on sandy soil, as the material excavated for the cellar is all that is required to build the house, except, of course, the cement.

"The cost of the iron molds will be about $25,000, the cost of the other machinery about $15,000. From this outfit an unlimited number of houses can be erected.

"It is probable that companies will be formed which will have several molds, each of a different design, and will go actively into business.

"I have not gone into this with the idea of making money from it, and will be glad to license reputable parties to make molds and erect houses without any payments on account of patents. The only restriction is that the designs of the houses be satisfactory to me and that they shall use good material.

"THOMAS A. EDISON."

NATURE WILL EFFECT CURE ONLY IF GIVEN PROPER AID

Mrs. C. Seeberg Tells of Experience With Broken Instep.

"Certainly" Mrs. Christina Seeberg, 2844 South Eighteenth street, is quoted as saying, "I have no objection to making a sworn statement of my experience for publication. I hope others may take advantage of it.

Three years ago I fell and broke my left foot across the instep. For two months it was in a plaster cast and never since had I been able to walk without a crutch or brace. Several of the best doctors here treated me, but did no good. For two years I have been unable to walk without an iron brace.

"Two months ago I went to Phenomenal Kraus' specialists, 523 Chestnut, on advice of a friend who had taken their home treatment for kidney trouble. They treated me with their new blue ray and today I can walk as well as anyone. For three years I had to have my housework done. Now I do my washing, ironing, scrubbing and housecleaning myself and sleep fine."

"I told this lady," said Phenomenal Kraus, "that our treatment could not cure injury. We found on examination that the real trouble was disease that would not let the break heal. We cured the disease—then nature cured the fracture. ***

MARK TWAIN IN TWO FAILURES

Trust Company Tied Up $51,000 and Now Milk Concern Fails.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Mark Twain was one of those caught in the collapse of the Knickerbocker Trust Co. The fact was made public today through a letter he sent to the Satterlee-Parsons Reorganization Committee of the depositors, assenting to their plan for rehabilitating the concern. He was caught for $51,000.

Mr. Clemens was reluctant to discuss his financial affairs. When the hope was expressed to him in behalf of his friends, that he had not been in any way seriously embarrassed by the Knickerbocker incident, the humorist said:

"It is an inconvenience, not an embarrassment."

His usual mode of living, it was vouchsafed, had not been affected by the tying up of his money.

Only a few days ago a milk product concern of which he was president, failed, and Mr. Clemens suffered a loss of about $25,000.

CAPT. CARTER MUST GIVE $400,000 TO UNITED STATES

Government Wins Its Suit for Securities Put in Vaults by Ex-Convict.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Four hundred thousand dollars in railroad bonds and other securities has been wrested by the Government from Capt. Oberlin M. Carter, former engineer in the United States army, convicted with Gaynor and Greene of having defrauded the Government during the improvement of the Harbor of Savannah, Ga.

Carter served a Penitentiary sentence and Gaynor and Greene are in prison now. The securities were traced to various deposit boxes and the Government sued for them. The decision was rendered yesterday by Judge Kohlsaat in the United States Circuit Court.

CUT THIS OUT

Fine Recipe for the Quick Cure of Coughs and Colds.

"Mix half ounce of Concentrated oil of pine with two ounces of glycerine and half a pint of good whiskey; shake well each time and use in doses of a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful every four hours.

This is the formula prescribed by the renowned throat and lung specialist who established the camp for consumptives in the pine woods of Maine and whose remarkable cures attracted wide-spread attention among the medical fraternity. He declares that it will heal the lungs and cure any cough that is curable and will break up an acute cold in twenty-four hours. The ingredients can be secured from any prescription druggist at a small cost and is easily mixed at home.

Be sure not to buy the imitations, as they will produce nausea, on account of the impurities they contain and frequently do permanent injury to the kidneys.

The real "Concentrated" oil of pine is put up for medicinal use in half ounce vials enclosed in tin screw top cases which protect it from heat and light. * * *

RATE WAR TO REDUCE FARE TO NEW YORK

Threatened Cut From Chicago to Be Met by St. Louis Lines.

St. Louis passenger agents of Eastern railroads see a cut of $3 to $5 coming in the first-class rate between St. Louis and New York within a month, unless something is done to avert the threatened cutting of rates between New York and Chicago.

It now costs $23.50 to go from St. Louis to New York first-class by two of the direct lines, and $21 by two others. A more roundabout line makes a $20 rate. But if the Erie makes its threatened $12 rate between New York and Chicago, it is likely that anybody in St. Louis who wants to make a midwinter visit to New York, look at the new 42-story buildings and stand around the outer edge of the Thaw trial, can go first-class for $17.80.

Rate Cut by Erie.

Not long ago the Erie, which was having a rate war with the Grand Trunk, cut the second-class rate between New York and Chicago from $16 to $10. The St. Louis lines began to feel the effect of this action immediately. The second-class rate from here to New York was $19, and as the St. Louis-Chicago rate is $5.80, it became possible for second-class passengers to save $3.20 by going to New York via Chicago.

To meet this, one of the St. Louis-New York lines cut its second-class rate to $15.80, the exact amount it would cost to go via Chicago.

A few days ago the Erie announced that all its rates in the Chicago rate sheet should be canceled Feb. 10. This was taken to mean that the Erie would cut all its rates, and it was unofficially stated that the new Chicago-New York rate would be $12, first-class, and $8 second class.

Adding $5.80 to each of these rates, first-class passengers could go from St. Louis to New York via Chicago for $17.80, and second-class for $13.80. The second-class rate between St. Louis and Chicago is the same as first-class.

Westenders Install Officers.

Officers of the West End Protective Association were installed at a meeting held Thursday evening at 4134 Page boulevard. They were: Richard Hanlon, president; E. C. Robinson, vice-president; H. L. Schwelch, second vice-president; John Paul Chew, treasurer; Joseph J. Cullinane, secretary.

PLAYGOERS' GUIDE.

GARRICK—Mme. Kalich in "Marta of the Lowlands." Strong Spanish drama of heartbreak and happiness. Kalich reveals amazing emotional range in congenial role. Excellent supporting company.

OLYMPIC—Otis Skinner, in "The Honor of the Family." Has best romantic role of his career and creates great comedy figure. Excellent support.

CENTURY—William Collier, in "Caught in the Rain." Clean farce, with lines bright above the average. Collier very much his old self, with new touch of dignity. Support fair.

GRAND—"In Old Kentucky." Acceptable production. Best work by Burt Clark as the Kentucky Colonel, Duncan Ponwarden as Joe Lorey and May Stockton as Madge. Pickaninny band a good feature.

COLUMBIA—Etienne Girardot and company, in "A Game of Cards," delicate comedy, are worthy topliners. Good vaudeville bill with several exceptionally pleasing acts.

IMPERIAL—"A Child of the Regiment." Real gatling gun, real blizzard, pretty heroine, good gambler-hero, exciting climaxes and play well presented.

STANDARD—The Rialto Rounders. Burlesque and vaudeville.

GAYETY—The Jersey Lilies. Burlesque and vaudeville.

MINISTER'S WIFE AND SON KILLED IN EXPRESS WRECK

Family en Route From Oregon to Atlanta to New Pastorate.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Jan. 10.—Southbound train No. 10, Sunset Express, on the Southern Pacific Railroad, was wrecked last evening at Rucker, 25 miles below here, and Mrs. A. P. Boyd and her little son of Portland, Ore., were killed. Mrs. Boyd was the wife of the Rev. A. P. Boyd, until recently pastor of the Sellwood Methodist Church at Portland. The minister's family was en route to Atlanta, Ga., where the Rev. Mr. Boyd was to have become pastor of the First Methodist Church. An unidentified tramp, stealing a ride on the brake beams, was also killed.

A partial list of the injured follows: William Ferguson, Lawrence, Mass., badly crushed, may die; A. Saunders, Chicago, badly crushed; William Oakley, Santa Cruez, Cal., slightly hurt; A. E. Belleme, New Orleans, fractured arm; Mr. and Mrs. M. Weckert, Bellaquest, S. D., scalp wound; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Sorber, Chicago, arms and wrists cut; U. N. Ables, Chicago, slight.

The cause of the wreck is not known. Six coaches behind the engine left the track. One was rolled into the county road.

Three Killed in Wreck.

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 10.—A report from Vinegar Bend, Ala., 41 miles from here, states that a rear end collision of freight trains occurred on the Alabama & Mississippi Railroad, ten miles from that place, early today, killing three persons and injuring 12 others.

NEGRESS, DELUDED INTO 10-YEAR ILLNESS, DIES AT RETREAT, AGED 106

Johanna Overton Thought Herself Poisoned by Enemy Who Later Suffered for the Sin.

After ten years' illness, brought on by the belief that she had been poisoned by an enemy, Johanna Overton, a negress 106 years old, died at the Central Baptist Poor Saints' Home, 2314 Morgan street, of which she had been an inmate since 1897.

Martha Ferguson, aged 100, a girlhood friend of Mrs. Overton and also an inmate of the Home, said Friday:

"Martha was never sick until she got the idea that she had been poisoned. After that she could not work and has lived here. The woman she accused of trying to kill her died two years ago in great agony, and Martha believed her death was a punishment for the sin of giving poison."

Mrs. Overton was born at Fulton, Mo., March 17, 1801. She was a slave in the Fairfax family until the Civil War. She married Henry Overton, a drayman of St. Louis, who died a quarter of a century ago. She was forty years a prominent member of the Central Baptist Church, holding the position of a Deaconess. She is survived by a son, Albert Overton, aged 67.

Vaudevillians will Give Ball.

At Liederkranz Hall, 3940 Easton avenue, Friday night, the first annual entertainment and ball of the Associated Vaudeville Artists of St. Louis will be given. W. W. Michaels is president, Dick Richards, secretary, and Jos. H. Smith, Henry Heet, Lew Woods, John L. Dapp, William Struck, F. De Verne and Frank Harrison charter members. It is announced that actors playing at local theaters will assist the "associated vaudevillians" in presenting the entertainment.

Flotilla Is at Brazil.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—A dispatch received at the Navy Department announces the arrival at Pernambuco, Brazil, of the torpedo boat destroyer flotilla now on its way to the Pacific Coast.

Omega Oil

COLDS IN CHEST AND SORE THROAT are often cured in one night by Omega Oil. The Oil takes immediate effect upon the inflamed organs, and the soreness soon disappears. There is no ammonia or turpentine in Omega Oil, so you can use it freely upon your children as well as yourself. It is safe and sure.

18% increase in our sales

In spite of the Money Stringency—in spite of the "hard times"—in spite of all "calamity howlers"—The Shoe Mart Co. showed a gain in sales during the month of December of 18% over the December of 1906. We believe this record stands in a class by itself.

The Reason for it!

The reason for it is plain—we have good shoes and we have been "boosting" ever since we began this business. We have been "boosting" hard for the shoe products of Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co. We have been "boosting" hard for the greatest industry in St. Louis and we have won out!

The American Gentleman and American Lady Shoes are giving the kind of satisfaction "that returneth for another pair." We're winning!

BOY IN COURT SPURNS MOTHER FOR HER PARENT

The Judge Gives Custody of Francis Purnell, 4, to His Grandmother.

REFUSES TO KISS HER

Child Sits on Judge Sale's Knee While Relatives Testify in Suit.

Francis Purnell, 4 years old, was the star witness for his grandmother, Mrs. Emma Long, against his mother, Mrs. Mary Purnell Bick, in the habeas corpus suit of the parent against the grandparent for his custody, in Judge Sale s court Thursday afternoon. He was not sworn "to tell the truth and nothing but the truth," but he sat on the Judge's knee and said he loved his grandmother. Afterward the Judge awarded him to his grandmother.

The boy has lived with his grandparents at [illegible] North Twenty-first street nearly all his life. His mother obtained a divorce from her first husband. Mrs. Long disapproved of her daughter's second marriage, to Charles E. Bick, and refused to let her have the boy. The boy's mother then brought suit.

Boy on Judge's Knee.

When Mrs. Long was testifying, the boy climbed up the steps of the witness stand and she took him on her lap, from which point of vantage he proceeded to "make up" with the Judge.

"Would you like to come over here?" asked the Judge, and Francis smiled his assent. The Judge arose and lifted him from his grandmother's lap and seated him on his own knee.

"Do you love your mother?" he asked.

The child shook his head emphatically.

"Do you love your grandmother?"

"Yes."

The Judge asked the child a few more questions and then told Francis to go down and kiss his mother. Francis shook his head and refused to obey the mandate of the Court. The Judge handed him back to his grandmother.

Partial Reconciliation Effected.

When the evidence was all in, the Judge directed the mother and grandmother and their husbands to bring the child to his office in the afternoon. He talked to them there for half an hour and there was a partial reconciliation between the grandmother and the mother. When Mrs. Long told Francis to go to his mother, he refused. She had to carry him across the room and place him in the arms of his mother.

Judge Sale's order was that the child remain for the present in the custody of the grandparents. He wants to see how the second matrimonial venture of the mother turns out before turning Francis over to her. If she gets along well with her second husband the Judge will later give her the custody of the child.

Meantime the mother is to have the right to visit the child every day and take it home with her one day a week. She now lives at 2606 Hebert street.

"MAUD GONNE" SEEKS DIVORCE

She Was Granted Separation From Maj. McBride in 1905.

Copyright, 1908, by the Press Pub. Co. (New York World.)

PARIS, Jan. 10.—Mrs. McBride, known better as Maud Gonne, the "Irish Joan of Arc," has renewed in court her effort to divorce Maj. John McBride, who led the Irish brigade in the Boer army against the British. The hearing of her appeal against the decision of the Paris court, rendered in 1905, which gave her only a separation from Maj. McBride, has just been started. The wife now seeks an absolute divorce and the sole custody of their young son. The Court's decision was based on the ground that the parties to the suit are Irish, and that absolute divorce cannot be had under the procedure of the Irish courts.

Lawyer Poincare, for Mrs. McBride, argued that this legal point is unsound. Lawyer Lubori, who gained so great a reputation in the Dreyfus case, appears for Maj. McBride.

FIREMEN IN FIGHT AT A PARTY

Host Gets Wound on Head From Blow With Bottle.

Following a fight which broke up a house party Thursday night, William Heckwolf of 2701 Eads avenue and Frank W. Hennis of 1417 Francis street, city firemen, were arrested, charged with assaulting John Nicholas of 2931 Virginia avenue, at whose home the party was given.

According to the police the trouble started when Hennis attempted to reprimand a younger relative. Nicholas interfered, it is said, and he and Hennis indulged in hot words. Later they shook hands and were promising to forget their differences, when Heckwolf, the police say, struck Nicholas on the head with a bottle. Nicholas ran from the house and the two firemen retired to the rear, where they were later arrested. Nicholas is suffering from a scalp wound.

JAP WIDOW SUES CHINAMAN FOR BREACH OF PROMISE

Mrs. Ruth Kim Wants $20,000 From Rich Brooklyn Restaurant Man.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Mrs. Ruth Kim, a young, petite, rosy-cheeked Japanese widow of Brooklyn, has brought suit against Jim Fook, proprietor of a Chinese restaurant, for breach of promise. She places the heart damage at $20,000.

Since October, when her husband, a Chinese interpreter, died, Mrs. Kim has been supporting herself and her 5-year-old boy, Bill Taft Kim, by working as cashier and waitress in Ong Pong's restaurant on Sands street, Brooklyn, close to the Navy Yard. Mrs. Kim said to a Post-Dispatch reporter:

"Fook came to see me night after night. He took me to the theater frequently. On Oct. 27 at this very table, he proposed and gave me a diamond engagement ring. We were to be married Thanksgiving Day.

"Then Jim grew cold, and the reason for his change was a mystery until Dec. 12, when I found him smoking cigarettes with an old sweetheart, an American girl."

Liederkranz Smoker Postponed

The smoker planned by the Liederkranz Club for its members on Jan. 11, has been postponed to a later date, not yet decided upon. The reason given is "on account of the elaborate preparations for the annual carnival and masquerade ball."

NEW FIRE ALARM REPEATER QUICKENS THE "LADDIES"

Old Bell Striker Has Been Replaced by More Complicated Instrument.

The Fire Department is getting busy. The Fire Alarm Telegraph System in the City Hall has just finished installing a new manual dial repeater, by which the operator sends the alarm signals over the gong circuit more than twice as rapidly as before. That is, the gongs are made to ring forth the numbers, indicating the box where the alarm was turned in, twice as rapidly.

The old machine on which this was done was called a bell striker. The new one, which is more complicated, was put into commission this week, the work being completed Thursday. For a time some of the fire signals were sent over the old and some over the new machine, and those who had gongs in their offices or shops wondered whether their bells had asthma or the grip.

ENGLISH HUSBAND GIVEN UP, TOO

Miss Maloney Will Lose Both Clarkson and Osborne.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—Martin Maloney, the Standard Oil millionaire, father of Helen Maloney, who eloped last October from New York with Samuel Clarkson of London, made official denial today that his daughter would ever rejoin Clarkson.

He admitted that suit for annulment of the marriage with Arthur Herbert Osborne, the broker, had been begun and that papers were served on him yesterday. The Catholic Church, it was said by a representative of Mr. Maloney, had made it an essential condition that Miss Maloney give up Clarkson forever before it would agree to act in the matter.

Memorial Society Officers.

The Confederate Memorial Society elected the following officers Thursday at the home of Mrs. John U. Menteer, 4918 Fountain avenue: Mrs. Eugene E. Evans, president; Mrs. George H. Hunt, first vice-president; Mrs. William B. Kinealy, second vice-president; Mrs. John Menteer, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Warner, recording secretary, and Mrs. Eugene Fusz, treasurer.

TO WORK OR TO MARRY?

Out of the 58 young unmarried women employed downtown who have defined for the Post-Dispatch their attitudes toward men and matrimony, 36 say substantially:

"I would not marry any man I know. When I marry it will be because I cannot work and earn my own living and because I have found a man who can afford to give me a good home and who is big enough and broad enough to give me just as much independence as I have now."

There is nothing very startling about all this. Their wise old grandmothers, experienced in some fundamental truths, would interpret it as nothing more than the admission that the right man has not come along yet. When he does happen upon the scene there will be a different attitude to define, but the girl in the case will be too agitated to diagnose her own symptoms.

She may realize, though, that the judgment she had formed of man through casual acquaintance with him as co-laborer was superficial and severe. As an industrial unit in a shop or office he is not a particularly alluring figure, generally, but even here, through a strange magic, he may suddenly appear to shine with romantic and even domestic possibilities. And grandmothers will testify both out of experience and long interested observation that when he does appear, no matter where, in the person of the right man, he usually proves irresistible to the girl towards whom he wears the glamor of vital attraction—and all at once the girl's independence and the size of the man's salary have become secondary considerations.

As for that abstract thing which our 36 esteemed young ladies extol as freedom—the very birds hold cheap the winged liberty of the wide heavens beside bondage to a mate and the glorifying servitude to a nest of cares. If royal princesses flee thrones for love and poverty into the bargain, surely the working girl at the appointed time may be depended upon to sacrifice her job and take her chances on whatever the young man earns.

"The point that astonished me," concluded the young lady interviewer who took the testimony of the 36 independents, "was that none was considering matrimony as a possibility anywhere in the near future and that most of them professed to be content to remain single all their lives."

Blessed is their content, then. Still more blessed will be their discontent when Mr. Inevitable happens upon them with his fetters and yves. We cannot quite believe that any girls e going to cleave to their own jobs so tenacious-us to force Love out of his job.

T or out of her job, self-sustaining, emanci-d, advanced, intellectual, or what not, the lern young woman is not really any more how-ald of the shackles of the one world-old and eternal slavery than her millions of sisters have been before her.

As it was in the beginning, so it is now and ever shall be, world without end.

DEEP WATER'S DEATH WARRANT.

Senator Newlands, in his speech on his inland waterways commission bill, remarked:

"Mr. President, the agitation for a deep waterway from St. Louis to the Gulf and from the Lakes to the Gulf has reached such proportions as to create a general demand from every section of the country that a broad and comprehensive plan should be inaugurated for the improvement of all the navigable waterways of the country."

In support of this misleading statement the Senator distorts the evidence. Attempting to show the wide generality of the demand for waterway improvement, he cites 13 conventions recently held, but it appears that nearly all of them were held in the Mississippi Valley and were essentially in aid of the Mississippi movement. It is a fact that the only real desire for waterway improvement to be found anywhere in the country is in the Mississippi Valley.

Senator Newlands' bill reads as if it were designed as the death warrant for the Lakes-to-Gulf propaganda; the latter would completely lose its identity and force in the scheme proposed by the bill. The friends of the Mississippi plan had not calculated to be so soon thrown on the defensive. But if there is any fight in them they should make it when need be against the Newlands measure as a fight for life.

BULLYING IN HIGH PLACE.

Nothing is easier than lying except calling hard names. Most men are under wholesome restraint as to the latter, however, because hard names are likely to be resented.

It is a rule among men of courage to characterize no adversary offensively beyond his hearing. In Congress, where personal disputes are common, there can be no verbal attack upon a member in his absence. The theory that if one is to express an offensive opinion of another he should "say it to his face" is based on the supposition that the man assailed may feel called upon to respond, possibly with violence.

There are many excellent reasons why the President of the United States should be cautious in the use of words in passing judgment on others, but the one, perhaps, which will appeal with most force to brave men is the fact that he cannot be answered in kind. The President is protected in the first place by his office and the universal respect in which it is held. In the second place, there are laws safeguarding the President which do not apply to citizens in general.

When the President applies harsh and fighting epithets to officers of the army and navy he attacks men who are silenced by the regulations of the service. They have no recourse except to resign. When he characterizes judges offensively and questions their motives they are mute because there probably is not a judge in America who is not self-respecting enough to decline a scandalous controversy with the President. When he passes hasty and brutal judgments upon private citizens they have only to consider the wrong done them by a chief magistrate who condemns without a hearing.

There are men in every community with whom even trifling disagreements are avoided, because it is known or believed that they will shoot on slight provocation. So, too, the fishwives of Billingsgate were shunned by all who disliked vituperation and uproar. The President of the United States who follows disagreement with a scream of "liar!" or who when crossed in any particular hastily places against the name of his adversary in the archives hot and insulting epithets may purchase immunity in that way for a season, but not for long.

Individually and collectively the American people are not good subjects for bullying. They do not like to be dragooned themselves and they do not enjoy the process when it is inflicted upon others. They hate everything that savors of cowardice or tyranny. They like responsibility. They despise a man, no matter what his station may be, who strikes and runs. They admire a fighter, but he must fight and he must give the other man a chance.

Finally, the President of the United States is not a court of original or ultimate jurisdiction. Except as to the matters plainly left to his discretion by law he is not a court at all. The severe judgments that he passes, the ugly words that he uses, the insulting characterizations which he makes and the fighting epithets which he hurls would be deemed weird indeed, even if they fell from a judge commenting upon the solemn verdict of a jury.

These things will pass away as surely as have many others of the evils that have attached themselves to popular government, and if remembered at all it will be with shame and regret.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Conscience vs. Cash.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

From what I read and observe, there can be no great reform without large business losses. From the pure-food reform on through all the other schemes, there are severe money spasms. Must we, in fact, continue in all wickedness, lest we be financially smashed? OLD MAN.

Red Light; Car Coming.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

James Howard's wife attempted to cross the street behind a car from which she, with her little son, had just alighted, unaware that a rapidly moving car was approaching from the opposite direction, when she was struck, but threw her little son to one side and saved him, though herself fatally injured. It would be a simple thing for the Council to pass an ordinance requiring the United Railways to display rear-end signals when cars are about to pass cars, from which passengers are alighting. It is due the public that they be protected by every possible safeguard, in view of the fact that our streets are made so dangerous by so many rapid-moving vehicles. It seems, however, that the policy of the famous "the people de d——" prevails and there is apparently no care for the lives of the pedestrians that are obliged to traverse our streets. C. A. WILLARD.

Charity Funds Are Low.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

For some reason or other two of our charitable organizations, siz: The St. Louis Provident Association and the St. Vincent de Paul Society, seem to have been overlooked as beneficiaries of our generous people's gifts. These societies are eminently worthy of recognition, as each is doing a grand work of charity, which has been steadily pursued year after year, and day after day, for the past thirty or forty years in this city. It is stated that the books of the Provident Association show that 150 cases of urgent need present themselves at the office of the association daily during the present winter. We have not yet entered upon the severest weeks of the season. If the funds of these institutions are not immediately replenished, by the kind offices of those who are able and willing to "come to the rescue," the sad probability is that thousands of worthy people will suffer, perhaps die, during the remainder of this winter. It is believed that a relief fund of $25,000 could be raised within one week and given to and divided between these two societies to meet the awful necessity that has arisen. There are 200,000 persons in St. Louis who would gladly and willingly give 25 cents if they were told where they could deposit it. JOHN BISSELL.

JUST A MINUTE FOR VERSE AND HUMOR.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

OUR UNCLE JEFF.

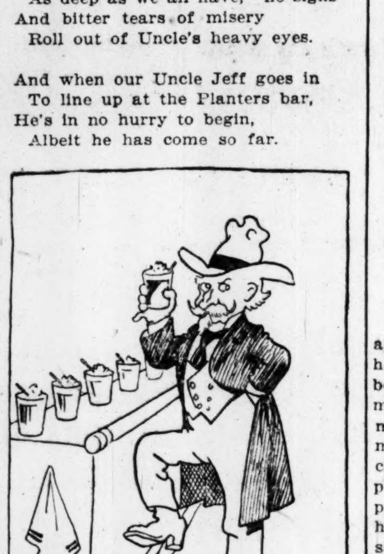
Our Uncle Jeff of Tennessee
Is here. O my, but he is sore—
He says there is no liberty
Or independence any more
In these United States, by gum!
And it makes Uncle wince to think
A Southern gentleman must come
Away up North to get a drink.

"You all," says Uncle Jeff, "cain't feel
About it as we do." His eye
Grows moist, and he cannot conceal
His sorrow for the South gone dry.
"You all ain't lived yoh liberty
As deep as we all have," he sighs
And bitter tears of misery
Roll out of Uncle's heavy eyes.

And when our Uncle Jeff goes in
To line up at the Planters bar,
He's in no hurry to begin,
Albeit he has come so far.



"Mint juleps—make a dozen, suh,"
He orders with great dignity,
And naively adds, "Ah've come as fuh
To drink as Knoxville, Tennessee."

"Yes, suh," he says, "the bleedin' South—
The bleedin' South is wheah Ah'm from—
From Knoxville, wheah they have a drouth.
Ah promised jes' befo' Ah come
That Ah would drink foh sev'ral frien's
That can't get off this time o' yeah—
Yes, suh, an' that's what Ah intends
To do with all this liquah heah."

And so he does. With head up high,
And lifted glass—pronouncing clear
The name of each dear friend and dry
Whose spirit only may be here.
"My deah frien' Kunnel Dodge," he sighs,
"This one is yoh's." And so on through,
He keeps his pledge with flashing eyes,
As any gentleman would do.

THE NEW BAND WAGON IN MISSOURI.

ALAS, FOR MAN!

Poor man! Woman wants his job, and not his love and devotion. She has a small woolly dog which wears better than a husband. She makes her money, and doesn't have to follow any man out on the front porch in the morning with tears in her eyes. She can go into the stores and buy the pretty things she sees, and not merely price them, as married women do. She has a parrot which repeats what she says, instead of being a parrot herself and repeating what her husband says. She believes with Bernard Shaw that "advanced people have delightful friendships; conventional people marry." And she escapes what Josh Billings called "the two greatest cares of this life—twins."

Fifty-eight women employed in the offices of a St. Louis manufacturing concern have just told us why they do not marry. Fifty-eight of them consider man inferior to woman. Nineteen do not like go-carts. Thirty-six do not like the way men walk. Seventeen already have satisfactory servants. Twenty will not marry because the only man they can get would take them to a flat and want them to call it "home." Ten receive gentlemen callers, just to show people that they could have a husband if they chose. Three are engaged because it enables them to go to the theater twice as much.

Just to prove that woman has never married man for anything but his money, almost everyone of these advanced women says she would not think of marrying a man whose income is not seven or eight times as great as her own.

So there you are, you miserable wretch.

Prof. Trelease says the smoke is going to kill all the trees in the parks. Alas, the time is coming when we shall have nothing here but the Anheuser bush!

RAILWAY PROGRESS IN 1907.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

During the year that has just ended the railroads of the countrty added to their mileage—apart from local extensions, sidetracks, etc.—some 5220 miles of track, as against 5620 for the previous year. It is computed that the railroads spent in the twelvemonth about $447,000,000 on improvements in rolling stock—cars and locomotives purchased of other companies. Those built in their shops are not included in this estimate, but they would make a very considerable addition to the total. The increase in expenditures for improvements was over 25 per cent of the corresponding expenditures of 1906.

Ultra Violet Danger.

From the Scientific American.

In an interesting lecture delivered before the recent Congress of German Natularists and Physicists, Dr. Schanz and Dr. Stockhausen discussed the action of ultra-violet rays on the eye. Dr. Stockhausen, while working on electric arcs, had been attacked by a severe "electric" ophthalmia caused by the ultra-violet rays of this source of light.

Such rays, while invisible to the human eye, are readily detected by means of photography. A glass plate inserted between the eye and the illuminant had so far been considered a sufficient safeguard, but Dr. Stockhausen, though protected by eyeglasses, was made seriously ill.

Ordinary protective spectacles will allow the blue ultra-violet rays to pass with ease. Smoke-ray spectacles, while reducing the intensity of the rays, as they do those of the visible spectrum, will not extinguish them entirely.

Further experiments were made on the percentage of ultra-violet rays in artificial illuminants, decomposing their light by the aid of Watt's spectographs. The results of those investigations, extending from pine torches and Roman oil lamps to the most recent electric lamps, show the percentage of ultra-violet rays to have increased greatly with the increasing intensity and temperature of our artificial illuminants.

In the eye itself, the lens will protect the retina against the effects of ultra-violet rays. By submitting the lens to the action of these rays a strong fluorescence is obtained, showing the conversion of the invisible into visible rays. Now the question arises whether or not in the course of time this conversion of energy will result in appreciable alterations of the transforming organ.

Some experimenters have indeed observed an alteration of the lens when subjected to an intense ultra-violet radiation, and it is suggested that the cataract observed in old age is due to such a cause.

The authors finally point out the desirability of designing efficient safeguards against the action of ultra-violet rays, which are the more imperative, as, apart from the possibility of accelerating the occurrence of old age cataract, these rays doubtless irritate the front part of the eye.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

Write but one question. Sign but one initial. Legal questions must be simple. No bets decided. Business addresses not given. Address "Answers," Post-Dispatch.

F. M.—Jan. 6, 1874, Tuesday.

T. A.—See Answers Dec. 8—dead birds.

C. F.—Put "Mr." on your visiting cards.

JOE.—The Standard seats the most people.

C. B. & E.—See Answers Dec. 5—Tom and Jerry.

JOE.—In Missouri no Governor can serve two terms in succession.

INQUIRER.—License is required if you manufacture face powder to sell.

F. H. B.—Try writing Chief of Police, New Orleans, to learn about your father.

P. M.—We have no list of railroads employing the eight-hour shift for telegraphers.

E. M. S.—Only an expert can tell whether a violin is as old as it is labeled and is valuable.

J. E.—See "Enamels," page 197, Scientific American Cyclopedia, Public Library reference room, 911 Locust.

HISTORY.—City Courthouse was completed July, 1862, but many alterations were made. Total cost, $1,199,871.91.

S.—Check, unless limited, is good so long as deposit is in bank or until person who made it has forbidden its payment.

M. DE.—We know of no record of the number of general merchandise stores in St. Louis, or those carrying catalogues.

W.—There are schools of photography. A good photographer should know how to teach anyone capable of being taught.

CALL LOANS.—In Missouri, interest above 8 per cent is illegal, but higher rates are collected by the ruse of a commission.

A. C.—White spots on finger nails are caused by bruises. Let them grow out and be filed off. The entire nail is renewed in two months.

J. E. T.—Clerk in street railway mail car receives $600 first year. Pay is increased every year until it is $1100; that is, if he proves to be efficient.

SUB.—Miss Lillian L. Deever, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Lucas and Garrison, will give you full information in regard to joining that society.

C. M.—One per cent of 75 is 75 hundredths, or three-quarters of a unit. One-third of 1 per cent would be one-third of three-quarters, or one-quarter of a unit.

SUB.—In the Catholic Church, when one of the parties to the marriage is a Catholic and the other a Protestant, the bans are not published from the altar.

S. B.—Beard promoter: Twelve drops croton oil and half ounce (troy) of sweet oil of almonds, mixed and rubbed on the skin daily, are said to promote hair growth.

L. O.—You might read "Writing for the Press," by R. Luce, $1, or "Art and Practice of Journalism," by E. L. Shuman, same price. We know of no book on magazine writing.

TLO.—Stamp letter to Canada the same as if it were going to any part of the United States. American stamps are used and the postage is no higher than for American mail.

A.—The Hartford (Conn.) Courant was born Oct. 29, 1764. It claims that it is the oldest newspaper in the United States that has been continuously published at the same place under the same name.

LEARNER.—If $81,271.08 is to be divided among seven heirs, five of them sharing equally, the others receiving each a double portion, the amount of a 2 per cent tax on one of the equal shares is $180.60.

C. R.—Usual list of graduation gifts: A book, a picture, a piece of table or decorative silver, a fan, flowers, in short, anything which strikes your fancy in the way of a neat and unostentatious souvenir.

EDWARD.—A stockholder has the right to examine the books, but he would not be permitted to make such examination at a time or in a manner that would interfere with the conduct of the company's business.

READER.—To join the navy a boy must be 18 years old and 64 inches in height. He must weigh 128 pounds, and the mean circumference of his chest must be 33 inches. Of course he may be older and taller and heavier.

E. L. M.—Bayle's dictionary gives arguments for and against the divining rod. Dr. Herbert Mayo gives a curious collection of discoveries said to have been made by this rod. We know of no modern scientific indorsement of it.

C. F. OPR.—The Hepburn law, a Federal enactment, requires railroads to employ three telegraph operators in all offices open for 24 consecutive hours. The law is yet new. We do not know whether it is yet observed in any of the states.

CONCRETE.—We know of no "good concrete journals." Any publication devoted to building should keep its readers informed as to concrete. The Builder, St. Louis, and the Architect and Builder, Kansas City, are Missouri publications devoted to building.

M.—Vassar fudge: Two cupfuls granulated sugar, half cupful cream or rich, sweet milk, two squares unsweetened chocolate, butter the size of an egg, vanilla flavoring. Break the chocolate into small pieces. Melt all the ingredients together. Let them boil hard for four minutes. Remove from the fire and stir rapidly until thick. Then pour into buttered tins.

READER.—The food and drug law requires a statement, on the label of every drug preparation, of the quantity or proportion of any morphine, opium, cocaine, heroin, alpha or beta eucaine, chloroform, cannabis indica, chloral hydrate, or acetinilide, or any derivative or preparation of any such substances contained therein. The word liniment is not used in the law. For license to manufacture and sell, apply to the License Commissioner, City Hall.

N. I.—There have been and can be common law marriages in states where it is recognized. The Missouri Supreme Court has decided that in order to establish a valid common law marriage, there must be not only reputation and cohabitation as a sequence thereof, but a present contract through words by which the man agrees to take the woman as his wife and the woman agrees to take the man as her husband. We advise every woman to beware of the man who is not willing that she should be married to him by a minister or a Justice of the Peace.

BALDY.—Government may be sued on claims founded upon the Constitution of the United States or any law of Congress, except for pensions, or upon any regulation of an executive department or upon any contract, expressed or implied, with the Government or for damages liquidated or unliquidated, in cases not sounding in tort, in respect of which claims the party would be entitled to redress against the United States, either in court of law, equity or admiralty if the United States were suable. This does not apply to war claims or rejected claims, or those reported on adversely. United States District and Circuit courts have concurrent jurisdiction with the Court of Claims.

A. G. D.—Your diagram problem is not a problem at all. You take two right-angled triangles 13 inches high and cut them at a point 5 inches from their bases. You declare the dimension at this point to be 3 inches, when in fact it is 3 1-13 inches. One-thirteenth of an inch is so small that the eye hardly detects it, and when the pieces are laid together, therefore they seem to make a perfect parallelogram, when in fact there is a variation of one-thirteenth of an inch from a true figure. A perfect demonstration of the fallacy of your proposition can be made by cutting the triangles out of wrapping paper on a large scale—say 13 feet instead of 13 inches. You will then find that the pieces will not fit into a regular parallelogram.

???—Mr. Logwood of the Christian Science Publication Committee thus answers your questions: No Christian Scientist is entitled to the technical term doctor or physician, except those who are graduates of medical colleges and hold medical certificates. These terms are wholly inappropriate to Christian Science practitioners, who have not studied medicine, nor treat the afflicted from a material basis. Christian Science is a religion and not a system of medicine. * * * Christian Science practice is a matter of individual conscience, and this can be finally determined only by the measurement proposed by the Great Master, "By their fruits ye shall know them." * * * Christian Scientists pay all lawful taxes as citizens and property holders.

NANNIE.—To reduce the hips and abdomen: Stand erect, heels together. Slowly raise one knee, body absolutely erect and head up, bringing the knee as near the chest as possible. Repeat with the other knee and thus alternate until tired. It is a splendid exercise and not difficult to do, though practice makes it more valuable. In time the knee can be easily brought to the chest. This exercise gives work to the front muscles of the thigh and the flesh around the hips and contracts the muscles of the abdomen. It should be practiced with little or no clothing on. Another authority says: To reduce abdomen and make chest and shoulders larger, persist in throwing the chest forward, breathing deeply, and keeping an erect position, sitting or standing. You must, of course, live moderately in all respects. Sassafras tea and dry toast are recommended as reducing flesh.

N. H. D.—No one man can be said to have invented the automobile. The machine as it is today is the product of many minds in many countries. Horseless vehicles date back almost to the time when steam became a motive power, and as long ago as 1802 Richard Trevithick, an Englishman, constructed a machine which made a trip of 90 miles over country roads. In 1881 Delamare-Deboutteville and Malandin of Paris invented a tricycle propelled by compressed gas, and a year later used petroleum for generating power. Panhard and Levassar were the first to invent a really practical petroleum motor. This was in 1890, since which time the development of the various types of road motors has been rapid. Electricity as a motive power for road machines was first used in the early 80's, but it was not until about 1898 that it began to be looked upon as a rival of petroleum. Of late years gasoline and steam motors have been extensively used.

MEN AND THE CLEVER WOMAN.

She Is Popular in America, but Her Noisy Assertive Sister Is Not, Is This Post-Dispatch Writer's Conclusion.

BY NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH.

NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH

"THE feminine type most sought after in Australia is the picturesquely foolish type," says Alfred J. Bulhane in his book, "The Real Australia." The Australian woman knows, he declares, "that the average man, despite his occasional glimmerings of reason and intelligence, is rendered uneasy by too much cleverness in a woman, just as a mediocre piano player is alarmed by the play of virtuosity in a rival. For various reasons the average woman finds it still to her interest to placate the average man."

Whatever the present status of the clever woman in Australia, in America she is today supreme. There is, to be sure, a type of clever woman to which men have always objected and who is as unpopular today as ever. This is the loudly self-assertive creature, whose one idea of demonstrating her own possession of brains is to deny them to everyone else, and who makes as much noise over her own ideas and witticisms as a particularly high strung hen does over her eggs. She shares, too, the hen's belief that the finest and only egg is that she is celebrating with such vociferation.

It is only this type, whose cleverness is mostly noise and fury, signifying nothing, that the American man dislikes. The woman with real brains finds that men greet anything resembling originality in women with a degree of appreciation that is almost touching. The very stupid man resents feminine cleverness, perhaps. But among Americans there are few very stupid men. An American respects brains wherever he finds them, even if it be in the head of his own wife. In fact, he sometimes likes them there better than anywhere else, for he knows it is impossible to have too many ideas in one family. And the Australian man, when he thinks about it, will have to agree with him.

AND SO THEY WERE NOT MARRIED.

A Leap Year Proposal and What Came of It. Recorded for the Post-Dispatch.

BY ELIZABETH GREGORY.

"I HAVE come to propose to you again, Jack," she said, as she was shown into Jack Lorrimer's private office.

"And I emphatically refuse again," said Jack, thumping the book he had been reading down on the desk.

"So you said the first time I proposed to you, eight years ago, and again when I proposed four years ago, but I have got the habit, so I ask you again, frankly, will you marry me?"

"Margaret, if you were not a woman, and the best and most sensible one I know, apart from the fact that once every four years you will persist in proposing to me, I would ask you to get out of my office."

"No, the trouble with you is, you cannot reasonably find fault with me," said Margaret, sweetly ignoring his last remark. "You like me and know that I would make you an excellent wife, there is nothing I do that you can justly condemn. I have not the faults that you have always believed women possess, and you are disgruntled because I am a living refutation of all your theories about women. I am amiable——"

"That's it, your amiability is fairly irritable sometimes," thundered Jack.

"I wonder, you wouldn't fancy a healthy, normal, broad-minded, straight-thinking woman, instead of running after poor little, silly Sadie Jackson."

"Sadie is all right; her character is a little unformed, but it is a great work to train the mind of a girl after your own ideas and watch it develop." And here Jack began to grow enthusiastic. "She is the very kind of a girl to bring out the latent spark of chivalry that ever glows in the breast of man.'

"I should think after some of the experiences you have had, Jack, you would quit that missionary work; I fancy it is about as satisfactory as 'marrying a man to reform him.'"

Jack began to feel a bit uncomfortable as he thought of the disastrous result of some of his philanthropic enterprises and ended the subject by saying "Have it your way, a woman always will, but come and have some lunch."

THE HOUSING OF TOILERS.

Detroit Has to Solve the Problem of Caring for 30,000 Increased Population.

DETROIT is growing at a rate faster than perhaps any other city in the country, says Rabbi Leo M. Franklin in Charities and The Commons. Awake as never before to its great industrial opportunities, the Board of Commerce is bringing to the city great enterprises that mean inevitably a growing population of the working classes. Factories employing thousands of men are springing up everywhere. The automobile industry alone has brought to Detroit upwards of thirty thousand men in the last few years, and the number is constantly growing.

Now the question arises: What are we to do with these newcomers? The inevitable result is twofold. In the first place, the hovels that are already shamefully overcrowded are filled a little fuller, for is there not always room for one more?

The second result of the growth of population is even more to be regretted, for it tends to renew and perpetuate the evils of which we are speaking. When certain classes of landlords realize that they can easily rent anything that bears the semblance of a house, they do one of two things. Either they build shamelessly small, poorly ventilated shacks on such vacant property as they can find (shacks are seldom demolished in the crowded quarters) or they add to the existing hovel a second story, if it can stand the weight, and thus make a "double-decker" of it.

The result is that a housing problem inevitably grows with an increase of population, unless wise measures to stem it be taken at the outset of the period of increased material prosperity. It is not the tenement problem in Detroit, for that I conceive to be something entirely different. It is purely a condition of overcrowding. Nor is this condition unique. In Great Britain where the housing problem is infinitely greater than in America, except for the city of New York, there exists outside of Edinburgh and Glasgow no tenement problem at all.

TRAIN YOUR EYES TO SEE.

Women in Business Should Cultivate Observation, Says This Writer.

BY HELEN BRUCE WALLACE.

THE business girl, to whom a trained observation is an invaluable asset, should note the things in the shop windows as she passes and see how many she can recall. It may not be many at first, but it is surprising how soon the list will lengthen.

As a woman or man is met on the street train yourself to take in at a glance what is worn.

Do you know the color of the eyes of your nearest and dearest? If you cannot picture them easily, then must you go in training at once for the seeing eye.

This seeing, by the way, does not mean the eye critical. Too many women use their eyes for no other purpose but to find flaws in their neighbors. One woman prided herself on never missing anything. "Would that she did!" say her friends. She can spot your most hidden deformity, her eyes are always glued to the crease that you did not have time to iron out, or the rent you forgot to sew. You are morally certain she is seeing the hole in your stocking.

Don't have the eyes that see not. It doesn't pay whatever your sphere in life.

THE FALLEN IDOL.

From Harper's Weekly.

"Writing plays is risky business," said Mr. Belasco. "Past triumphs don't count. He who has written 20 superb pieces is just as likely to be damned on his twenty-first piece as any tyro.

"There was once a playwright who sat in the front row at the first night of a new piece of his own. This piece failed. It failed dreadfully.

"As the playwright sat, pale and sad, amid the hisses, a woman behind him leaned forward and said:

"'Excuse me, sir; but knowing you to be the author of this play, I took the liberty, at the beginning of the performance, of snipping off a lock of your hair. Allow me now to return it to you.'"

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE

The Good Luck has made sweeping reductions in every department to raise cash for its Detroit store. The death of Mr. Samuel Heymann, a member of the firm in that city, has made it imperative that we buy his holdings from his executors. For this we must have cash.

These prices are reductions not upon the "supposed" value of the goods, but are reductions upon the actual prices at which we have been selling them.

The original prices were already from 20 to 25 per cent lower than those of any other store, so you can see what an enormous saving these sweeping reductions mean to you.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE!

FARMER ST. Between Monroe and Gratiot Aves.

AT The Good Luck Detroit, Mich.

FARMER ST. Between Monroe and Gratiot Aves.

The shares owned in this company by the late Samuel Heymann, a member of the Firm, will be sold by the executors of his estate to the remaining stockholders.

There will be no change in the firmly established policy of this business. It will be conducted on the same lines that have made THE GOOD LUCK the largest, the best and the most popular clothing store in Detroit.

But the Ownership of the Stock Must Be Readjusted

and the best way to do this quickly, satisfactorily and justly is to sell the entire merchandise on hand and settle in cash. For this reason we will inaugurate on SATURDAY, JANUARY FOURTH, the greatest sale of MEN'S CLOTHING, FURNISHINGS AND HATS that Detroit has ever seen.

Everything Must Go! Everything Will Go!

Suits and Overcoats Suits and Overcoats

The Good Luck never indulges in exaggerated statements. Its advertisements always were, always are, and always will be literally and accurately true.

The papers are full of "sales" and it's up to you as it never was before to prove whether you can tell a real bargain from a "paper" one. Every one of these bargains is a real money-saving chance.

SPRING RECEIPTS ONLY HELP PAY FOR TRAINING

Players Expect Nothing When Club Owner Prepares Them for Their Regular Work.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

ROUGH estimate of the expense of the spring training trip planned by President R. L. Hedges of the St. Louis Browns for his team this coming spring shows that something more than $5000 will be expended in simply preparing the players for the opening of the season.

Baseball is about the only business where an employer will spend money to get men ready to do his work and also probably the only business where the employes are permitted to draw advance money for work they have never done.

The ball player's salary begins on the opening day of the season, and the club owner could demand him to report to the club on that day in condition to play, if he so desired. If the player reported out of condition and was unable to do his work suitably, the club owner would have a perfect right to discharge him.

BUT the magnates are well aware that few players would report in shape were spring training left in their own hands, and so the club finds it beneficial, yes, even necessary, to expend a great deal of money out of its treasury so the team may be able to compete on an equal basis with the other clubs of the league.

If no club had a training trip, but all the players reported on the first day and went into the game the chances would be equalized, but the custom has been set and all must now follow or take a back seat in the race.

THERE has been some criticism over the country, both in the North and in the South, because big league clubs play exhibition games in other cities and do not use their best players all the time. The mistake usually lies in the management of such games, which, in order to draw as much gate money as possible, advertises the game with one of the big league clubs. Consequently the public feels robbed when it sees three or four raw recruits in the game and the big fellows with the strong reputations sitting on the bench, or, if playing, never exerting themselves.

Instead of exhibition games the public should be informed that they are practice affairs. All through the South there have been numerous objections raised. People have said they were being fleeced out of their money by paying to see big leaguers and then getting shoddy baseball.

But a manager of a team in the big league, traveling in the South for training purposes, never considers one of those games seriously, and if he did he wouldn't be a good manager. He is sent down there to get his players in shape for the championship race that is to be started within a few weeks up in the North.

A GOOD manager never has it first in mind to beat one of those Southern League clubs. At least that is not the main object he has when he lines his men up against it. He wants to see just how his own players, especially the new ones, are going to act under fire in a real game. He doesn't plan the best way to beat that little club, but the best means of showing just what his youngsters can do, and also give his old players the necessary batting and fielding practice to be in shape for the big games that begin soon in the North.

The gate money that comes in at those practice games down in the South only helps a little to pay the expense of the training trip. Time was when a big league club could make enough to pay all the expense, but the big fellows are no longer popular enough to draw big crowds down there and a team seldom gets enough money to pay the hotel bills and railroad fare.

ALL spring exhibition games are simply to get the players in shape for the regular season, and, therefore, the players have no reason to expect pay for playing in such games. As long as the games are simply for practice, they can have no cause to object to giving their services as it is all for their own good.

It is possible that where a series is played more for exhibition purposes, with the idea of the gate money ahead of the idea of training, the players should be entitled to something for their part in the show. Such is the case in the spring series between the Browns and Cardinals, and while the owners promise no share in the gate money and no salary for that series, it has been customary to present the players with a check from the prize money, especially if the receipts have been large.

OWNERS HEDGES and Robinson, however, are taking all the chances on spring trips and exhibition games, and have to foot all the bils. Most of the ball players feel they are fortunate in having the opportunity to go to some southern place and put in a month or six weeks to get themselves in shape for their work at the expense of the club.

There are a few ball players, of course, who can not see money coming in at the gate from people who pay to see them without feeling that they should have their little bit.

In a post-season series of games it has always been customary for the players to share in the receipts, for at that time their contracts have expired and the games are purely exhibitions and at the same time for a championship. They must stay over time and give their services to the club to make the thing a success and there are no championship games to follow. Such games are extra work and call for extra pay.

BRESNAHAN SIGNS WITH THE GIANTS

Great New York Catcher Meets McGraw and Agrees on Terms for Next Season.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Manager John J. McGraw of the New York National League baseball team, stopped in Chicago yesterday on his way to California and was met here by Roger Bresnahan, the backstop of the Giants. After a few minutes of earnest conversation the announcement was made that Bresnahan had signed a 1908 contract. The leader of the Giants then continued his journey, accompanied by his wife.

Bresnahan said: "I came up from my home in Toledo in answer to a request from Manager McGraw to meet him here, and we had an easy time getting together. I am well satisfied with the way I have been treated."

HILLMAN, STAR RUNNER, NOW SUSPENDED BY THE A. A. U.

Great Athlete Made Ineligible for Accepting Prize in Race.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—There were some further developments in the athletic tangle yesterday when Bartow S. Weeks, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Amateur Athletic Union, stated that Harry L. Hillman, the runner, had suspended himself by accepting a gold watch given him, it is claimed, for running an exhibition quarter mile at the games of the Twenty-second Regiment.

He will not be eligible to compete in any amateur event until reinstated by the committee.

GAME TO AID FIRE SUFFERERS

Maplewood Basket Ball Team Will Play Prairie Chickens.

The Maplewood A. C. basket ball team will play the Prairie Chickens at the Maplewood A. C. Saturday night. The game will be for the benefit of the sufferers by the Maplewood fire. A dance will follow the basket ball game.

Schneider in Kansas City Race.

W. J. Schneider, a local "ped," will enter the 6-day go-as-you-please race which will be held in Kansas City, starting Feb. 24. It is expected that W. A. "Cowboy" Smith, another 6-day man, who is at present in St. Louis, will also enter for the Kansas City contest.

ATHLETICS BALKED IN MEETING CUBS

Dates for Series at New Orleans Conflict and Games May Be Called Off.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia American League club, who returned here last evening from a trip to California, states that his team may not play the contemplated series with the Chicago Nationals at New Orleans next March. The difficulty is over the dates for the series. Mack wants the games played about the middle of March, while President Murphy of Chicago wants dates late in March, which would conflict with Mack's exhibition games.

Manager Mack says that he will take his team South on Feb. 28, so as to get in some games at New Orleans during Mardi Gras week. While away he signed a young California outfielder named Zamlock.

GAELS TO JOIN THE A. A. U.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—The Gaelic Athletic Association of Illinois, embracing 10 clubs in Chicago and the organizations of Peoria, Springfield, East St. Louis and Long Valley, last night voted to apply for membership in the Central Amateur Athletic Union.

The State association is one of the strongest in the United States, having a total enrollment of over 2500 members, and by their affiliation with the A. A. U. the latter body is given increased power in the world of amateur athletics.

Billiard Experts Who Finish 18.2, Match Tonight

ORA MORNINGSTAR

CHARLES PETERSON.

FOR the first time in the history of billiards and pool four world's championships will be played for inside of a month. Four of the men that will compete in the championship contests are at present in St. Louis. They are Harry Cline, three-cushion champion; Thomas Hueston, champion pool player; Ora Morningstar and John Daly.

On Jan. 27 Ora Morningstar and George Sutton will meet in a 500-point match for the 18.2 championship emblem held by Sutton and a side wager of $500.

The following evening Al. Cutler will oppose George Schaefer in a match for the 18.1 balkline championship at Philadelphia. The match will also be a 500-point affair for $500 a side..

Harry Cline will be called on to defend his three-cushion emblem on the evenings of Feb. 6, 7 and 8 at the Rex billiard hall in this city against John Daly. The match will be 50 points each night for the Jordan W. Lambert trophy and $250 a side.

Jerome Keough of Buffalo will play Thomas Hueston at the Rex billiard hall in this city on the evenings of Jan. 26, 27 and 28 for the world's pool championship emblem held by Hueston. Two hundred points will be played each evening and the match will be for $250 a side. If Hueston wins the emblem will become his personal property as he has defended the trophy for a year, but was challenged just before the time limit expired by Keough.

All four matches coming almost at the same time should create more interest in billiards and pool than has been worked up in a long time, especially in this city, where all the men who will contest, with the exception of Cutler, are well known, having played here often.

MORAN MAY MEET NELSON IN RING

Promoter Coffroth of Frisco Is Trying to Match Britisher With the Dane.

A letter has been received by the Sporting Editor of the Post-Dispatch in which James W. Cofforth, the Frisco boxing promoter, states that he is trying to match Battling Nelson and Owen Moran. Moran is the featherweight fighter who drew in 25 rounds with Abe Attell at Frisco New Year's day. Moran is the English featherweight champion and should at least allow Nelson six pounds, as Nelson cannot make lower than 130 pounds.

Coffroth declares that Attell refuses to fight "Brooklyn" Tommy Sullivan at 126 pounds ringside. In a telegram sent to Coffroth a few days ago by the Post-Dispatch, the Frisco promoter was told that Sullivan stands willing to wager $1000 that he can stop either Moran or Sullivan inside of 20 rounds at 126 pounds ringside. Attell will not fight Sullivan or Moran unless they make 122 pounds ringside or 120 pounds two and a half hours before the fight.

Sullivan, accompanied by Billy Jaeger, a great admirer of the Brooklynite will leave for Chicago Sunday night in an effort to arrange a match with Moran. Sullivan will offer to wager Moran $1000 that he can stop him inside of 20 rounds at 126 pounds ringside. Coffroth would undoubtedly hang up a good purse for the fight.

GUNTHER AND BLACKBURN EVEN

Australian Fights American Again in Quaker City Ring.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—George Gunther of Australia, who was recently knocked out by Jack Blackburn here in the fifth round, got a return engagement with his conqueror at the Broadway Athletic Club last night. Gunther tried to make a rushing fight of it, but Jack matched his cleverness against the foreigner's rushes and at the end of the sixth round they were even up.

Pegged on the Bases

More home runs were made at the Polo Grounds in New York last season than in any other park in the big leagues. Altogether 38 four-baggers were rapped out there, most of them being over the short right field fence. There was 141 homers made in the National League and 103 in the American.

Ty Cobb, the great Detroit hitter, was the only man last season to get a home run off the pitching of Rube Waddell. It isn't often the batter gets a square crack at the ball when the Ruben is in the box.

The question of Hal Chase playing in New York next season is now as hot as ever, though for a time it seemed settled that he would return. No one will be sure of it until the season opens.

It looks as though Clark Griffith is going to have no trouble in getting Fred Glade to play in New York. However he has not yet got his signed contract and it will require a neat sum before the speedy pitcher will write his name to it.

Hans Wagner was offered a lot of money to play hockey with the Pittsburg team, but declined. Hans will not do anything in sports except play ball.

Jack Thoney, the speedy base runner of the Toronto Club led the Eastern League in batting last season. He will be with the Boston club of the American League next season and is expected to make good in fast company. His batting average was .329.

Pitcher Scanlon of the Brooklyn club, who was operated upon some time ago for appendicitis, is rapidly recovering and will be able to work at the opening of the season.

A Gillette Safety Razor—
5 Minutes' Time—

and you emerge in the morning clean and self-respecting. Fit also to command the respect of your fellows.

The Blade of the Gillette Razor is the only new idea in razor blades for over four hundred years. This double-edged, thin-as-a-wafer blade is held by the Gillette frame in a perfectly rigid manner (which evades all possible vibration), thus insuring a comfortable, safe, smooth shave.

The Gillette Holder is triple silver-plated and will last you a lifetime. The set complete is $5.00, in neat, compact little case.

Ten brand-new, double-edged Gillette Blades cost you but 50c, and we always have a supply of new blades.

Sports of All Sorts

The Chicago Athletic Association is after the services of Walter Boyce, the captain of the Brookline water polo team. Boyce has visited Chicago several times recently, and the big Windy City club wants him to join its polo team.

If Michigan fails to come into the Western conference once more, a "big three" composed of Chicago, Minnesota and Wisconsin, is likely to be formed. The plan has already been brought up, but will rest until it is determined where Michigan will stand.

Melvin Sheppard and Guy Haskins are matched to race 1000 yards before the Boston Athletic Association on Feb. 1. Sheppard is anxious to retrieve the defeat he sustained at the hands of Haskins on Dec. 13 in Philadelphia.

The American team should be especially strong in the shot-put at the Olympic games if all our men go. Ralph Rose, Wesley Coe and Martin Sheridan should finish one, two, three unless Europe uncovers something better before the time of the meet.

Yale has an athletic find in John R. Kilpatrick. He has already beaten Coy's record for total strength, making 1816.9 units, as against Coy's 1614.4, which was the high mark for Yale before. Kilpatrick is allround a bigger man than Coy.

"HACK" ASKS DATE TO MEET GOTCH

Russian Lion Wires American Champion Wrestler Regarding Time for Match.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 10.—George Hackenschmidt, the Russian Lion, has wired Frank Gotch, champion wrestler of America, asking if a date between April 1 and May 1 would be acceptable for their proposed match in this country. Gotch declared at once that it would and the match will probably be arranged at once to take place either in Chicago or Kansas City.

Society

THE first imperial ball of the season will be given at the St. Louis Club Friday evening at 9 o'clock. The chaperones for the year will be Mrs. Joseph Gilbert Chapman, Mrs. Daniel Catlin, Mrs. John David Davis, Mrs. John T. Davis, Mrs. Frederick B. Ewing, Mrs. David Rowland Francis, Mrs. Francis D. Hirshberg, Mrs. Robert McKittrick Jones, Miss Lionberger, Mrs. Henry Clarkson Scott, Mrs. Charles Tracy Jr. Mr. Henry Potter is secetary of the club.

The marriage of Miss Nanette Paschall and Mr. Parton Swift of Buffalo will take place Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lee, 25 Vandeventer place, the uncle and aunt of the bride-elect. There will be no reception, and only intimate friends will witness the ceremony. Mr. Swift and his bride will depart after receiving the congratulations of their friends for a tour of the South before going to their future home in Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Handlan will give up their apartments at the Jefferson Hotel and will take possession of their new home, 3700 Lindell boulevard, next week. They will have with them their daughters, Miss Marie and Mis Vella Handlan, and their sons, Messrs. Eugene and Edward Handlan.

Mr. and Mrs George W. Meyer of New York have sent out cards announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Georgina Meyer and Mr. Ferris Edward Reeve of St. Louis. The marriage was celebrated Monday evening, Jan. 6, at 9 o'clock, at Terrace Bend, Park Hill, Yonkers-on-the-Hudson. Rev. Charles Ashmead of Yonkers performed the ceremony. Miss Eugenia Meyer was maid of honor and Miss Evelyn Meyer, wearing Valenciennes lace-trimmed frock, was flower girl. The bride wore a white satin princess gown with diamond and pearl locket, the gift of the bridegroom. Mr. Reeve had Mr. Arthur Bachman Reeve as best man and Messrs. Edward Tipping of Englewood, Harry Williams of Leonia, N. J., and Raymond Ayre of Washington.

The bride's mother wore black guipure lace over white chiffon, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Arthur Reeve, royal blue velvet and messaline trimmed with point lace. Among the guests from St. Louis were: Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Strasburger; Mr. and Mrs. George W. Forsythe of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Walmez of Paris, Mayor Edwin Howard Foster of Bergenfield, N. J., and Prof. and Mrs. Robert C. Gambee of Englewood.

After a trip to Florida Mr. and Mrs. Reeve will make their home in St. Louis.

Mrs. Joseph McLellan gave a delightful 500 party at her home, 5883 Von Versen avenue, Friday afternoon. Pink roses decorated the rooms and at the close of the game prizes were awarded and a course luncheon served. Some of the guests present were: Mrs. George S. McGrew, Mrs. John C. Roberts, Mrs. John Scullin, Mrs. Hamilton Woods of Tennessee, Mrs. Agnes McBeth, Mrs. Lavinia Crow Reilly, Mrs. William Klein, Mrs. Charles Boogher, Mrs. Garrett Strode, Mrs. Florence Longstreth, Mrs. George Benham, Mrs. J. C. Crowdus, Mrs. George Winstead, Mrs. John McMillan, Mrs. Ernest Hubbard.

Mrs. Emil J. Kramer entertained very informally Friday afternoon at her Forest Park boulevard home for Mrs. Conover of Chicago. Mrs. Kramer's guests were limited to the guests of honor friends. Mrs. Kramer was assisted by her two pretty daughters—Miss Florence Kramer and Miss Hazel Kramer.

Mrs. Lavinia Crow Reilly and Mrs. Hoyt of Kirkwood have issued invitations for a reception they will give at the home of Mrs. Reilly, 4425 Forest Park boulevard, Jan. 20, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

FOOTBALL SUICIDE WAS INSANE

Doctors Believed Urbin Angney Lost Mind Over Religion.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Jan. 10.—"Urbin Angney, the Kansas University football player who committed suicide here yesterday was insane," said F. S. Emley the family physician, here today. The same opinion was expressed by Dr. Carl Phillips, the Coroner, and by Dr. James Naismith, physical director of the university.

Angney jumped from the fifth floor of Fraser Hall Thursday and was dead when picked up.

Dr. Emley said he was evidently suffering from an attack of religious paranoia. He bases his belief on the note addressed "Dear Jesus."

To Sing Oriental Songs.

The Union Musical Club will give a song recital Saturday afternoon at the Musical Arts Building, with William John Hall as soloist and Mrs. Hall as accompanist. The program includes songs of Arabia, India, Japan, Egypt, China and Persia.

REMOVAL SALE

NEW LOCATIO OLIVE AND TENTH MARCH 1st, 1908

This seems to be a season of "Commercial Surprises." Sales of all kinds and descriptions are daily being announced by all retail clothing stores advertising to an intelligent public. This public itself can best decide which store is in the most logical position to best serve its wants, at the greatest price concessions at this period of after-season selling.

We have always believed in and catered to the intelligence of the public, as we firmly believe the public to be intelligent, so in making this further announcement of our Removal Sale, we know that a hearty response will be received, though prices framed by others may seemingly be lower.

An Unequaled Overcoat Offering

NO WINTER IN JAMAICA; BEES STOP WORKING

The Department of Agriculture Thought They Would Store Honey There All Year.

IS MARRIAGE PEONAGE?

Senator Johnson Tells Story That Sheds Some Light on Subject.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.

THE busy bee has the laugh on the Department of Agriculture.

"If it is so foolish as to work a'l summer at making honey in order that it will have something to eat during the winter," suggested one wise inspector, "it would work all the time down in Jamaica, where they have 365 days of summer."

Secretary Wilson accordingly ordered that some of the Government's liveliest bees be taken to Jamaica, escorted by a half-dozen watchers. For several months the entire outfit has been in the West Indian island and a few days ago the following message was received by the department:

"Nothing doing. Bees are on. No winter here and they struck on honey-making as soon as we arrived."

New Method of Revenge.

WHEN Senator Frazier was elected Governor of Tennessee a few years ago his Republican opponent was Jesse M. Littleton, brother of Martin W. Littleton, Harry Thaw's chief counsel. One of the Littleton brothers, the youngest of 18 children, is a fourth-class Postmaster at Estill Springs, Tenn., and a warm supporter of Representative Brownlow, one of the Republican leaders in the State. The anti-Brownlow members of the party in his county have been trying hard to have him removed. Today Senator Frazier received this letter from Jesse Littleton:

"Dear Sir—Inasmuch as your election to the Senate was the result of your having been Governor, and inasmuch as you were elected Governor because I showed up your record on every stump in the State, and inasmuch as my opposition to you resulted in your getting the largest majority any Democrat had received for years, I want you to show your appreciation by going to the White House and telling T. R. that if he fires my kid brother I will elect another Democratic Governor of Tennessee by running on the Republican ticket."

Marriage, Not Peonage

SENATOR JOHNSTON of Alabama owns a beautiful home in Birmingham and takes great delight in donning a pair of overalls and a split hickory hat and working in the garden. One day shortly after the expiration of his last term as Governor a fashionably dressed woman, who had resided in Birmingham only a short time and had never seen Johnston, called on his wife. No one answered the bell, so she walked out among the flower beds where the ex-Governor was hoeing some geraniums. He bowed and she asked him how long he had worked for the Johnstons.

"A good many years, madam," he replied.

"Do they pay you well?"

"About all I get out of it is my clothes and keep."

"Why, come and work for me," she said. "I'll do that and pay you so much a month besides."

"I thank you, madam," he replied, bowing very low, "but I signed up with Mrs. Johnston for life."

"Why, no such contract is binding. That is peonage."

"Some may call it that, but I have always called it marriage."

Telegram Proves a Lemon.

WHILE Representative Hamill of Jersey City was absent for a few minutes from his seat yesterday a telegram arrived for him. The page searched the cloakrooms and the lobby, but failed to find him. Upon Hamill's return several members told him of the message and he started out to look for it.

The page had given it back to the messenger boy and the latter had not returned to the telegraph office. Hamill got worked up to a terrible state of excitement. He was explaining the importance of that message to a fellow member, when a page rushed in and handed him an envelope. He opened it hurriedly and read:

"For heaven's sake wire me $10. I'm all in."

How a Negro Beat Simmons.

SENATOR SIMMONS of North Carolina produced the best story of the session.

"Joe" Sibley gave a banquet to the Postmaster General. Speakers praised Mr. Meyers' influence and activity. Senator Simmons rose to speak.

"'This question of influence reminds me,' he said, "that it is just possible to have too much influence. When I was first elected to Congress some 20 years ago it was in a black district. I was elected by the colored brothers' support.

"James City was a town with a solid negro population. The candidate against me was a colored man, and let me tell you they are the best politicians alive. Early in the campaign I went to James City and had a great meeting. They were all for me. There didn't seem to be a voice for the other man, and he didn't have a word to say.

"I never did hear from him until the night before election. Then he held a meeting there, which opened cold, clammy and unresponsive. After a while somebody yelled 'What's the matter with Simmons?'

Colored Man Tells Story.

"'Oh, Simmons is all right,' replied my opponent. 'He has a good deal of influence up there at Washington. One mawnin' Mistah Simmons went up to de White House, an' he say to Boss Cleveland, 'good mornin' Boss Cleveland; I want $75,000 for a postoffice at James City.' 'All right; go ovah to de Treasury an' get it,' says Boss Cleveland.

"'Few days latah Mistah Simmons walked up again. 'Good mornin' Boss Cleveland,' he says. 'I wants $20,000 for a road to the Nat'nal Cem'try at my town.'

"'All right, Mistah Simmons; go right ovah to de Treasury an' get it,' replied Boss Cleveland.

"'Oh, yes,' continued the speaker, 'Mistah Simmons has plenty of infloonce up dere at Washin'ton. Say, you niggahs, lemme tell ye something. Dere's such a thing as a man gettin' too infloonced. Some pleasant mawnin' Mistah Simmons wif his infloonce will walk up to de White House an' he'll say:

"'Mistah Cleveland, I wants you all to put all dese hyah niggahs back into slavery,' An' Mistah Cleveland, he'll do it, he will, an' den where'll you niggahs be?'

"And the next day," concluded Senator Simmons, "every vote in James City was cast for the other candidate, and I was retired from Congress."

PASTOR, ON COUNTERFEITING CHARGE, "CAST MEDALS ONLY"

Churchman Pleads That Coins Were Made for Sunday-School Children.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 10.—Charged with counterfeiting, Dr. James R. Kaye, former pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church of Lincoln, Ill., and now assistant editor of a religious publication at Oak Park, Ill., is on trial here in the United States District Court. Dr Kaye has offered to plead guilty on a technical charge, as he said he used the molds to strike off "medals" to give to children for Sunday school attendance.

Dr. Kaye declares that the molds, which were for making facsimile of dimes, were never used to defraud. Other counterfeiting paraphernalia, including ladles and pots, were discovered about the premises where the pastor resided in Lincoln.

HALE'S NAVY BILL IS POLITE CRITICISM ON BROWNSON INCIDENT

It Is Taken to Mean That President's Course Is Regarded With Disfavor.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—"No permanent board of any kind shall be hereafter appointed by the Navy Department or continued in operation unless expressly provided for by law, after the passage of this act."

"Officers in the various staff corps of the navy shall hereafter have actual rank and title as now established for the staff corps of the army. This provision shall in no case carry with it command over any vessel of the Navy Department; but such command shall be exercised only by line officers."

These two stipulations, contained in a naval personnel bill introduced by Senator Hale, constitute the most polite and drastic criticism which has recently been administrated by a Republican legislator to President Roosevelt. A strict interpretation of the two clauses means that Senator Hale, chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs, and practically floor leader of his party in the Senate, disapproves of the President's course in designating Surgeon Stokes to command the hospital ship Relief, thereby leading to an open break with Admiral Brownson, who declared none but line officers should be in charge of naval vessels. It also means that the manipulation of boards in the Navy Department by executive order and without authority from Congress, is regarded with severe disfavor.

W. U. STUDENTS AND FACULTY WILL ARBITRATE "STRIKE"

Mass Meeting Called for Saturday to Discuss Alumni's Recommendations.

A meeting of the student body of Washington University will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the chemistry lecture room to receive and discuss the resolution adopted by the alumni Thursday night. This resolution requested the students to return to their old activities in college life at once and to name a committee of five to meet with a committee of the faculty to settle their grievances.

Some of the students are outspoken in their assertions that the student body will refuse to comply with the request of the alumni. These students say that they want more from the faculty than the appointment of a conference committee before ending their strike. They insist that they must have some definite promise from the faculty to do more for athletics in the future before they capitulate.

All the striking students have copies of "Student Life" today and they point with some satisfaction to an announcement on the back page, with a mourning border, reading:

"Died, Jan. 7, 1908—W. U."

HELD UP, HE GAVE THEM BREAD

Robert Scholton, driver for a bakery company, saved his purse and collections from customers by presenting two men who held him up on his wagon with two of his best loaves of bread. The savory food made them forget their purpose and they walked away munching contentedly. Police of the Deer Street Station are looking for them.

Scholton, at 6:30 p. m. Thursday, delivered some bread at 4740 Easton avenue. When he climbed back of his seat a man sprang to each side of the wagon and demanded his money.

"I haven't any," he said, "but I'll give you each a loaf of bread."

The substitute was accepted and Scholten drove off to find a policeman. He lives at 1045 Hodiament avenue and is 35 years old.

Discuss New Library Branch.

The North St. Louis Business Men's Association Thursday night discussed the location of a library branch in North St. Louis, at their regular meeting at Twentieth and Salisbury streets. The association has appointed a committee to confer with the Library Board, which requested the association to assist in the selection of the location.

THE POST-DISPATCH'S DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

PROFIT-TAKING BY SHORT INTERESTS LOWERS PRICES

Rumors of Imminent Receivership for Southern Railway Also Help to Depreciate Entire List.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The Evening Post, in its financial issue, says:

Until the afternoon reaction sacrificed most of the early gains with a sharp break in Southern Railway shares, today's stock market advanced rather violently, with gains of from 1 to 3 points over yesterday. This demonstration was accompanied by a familiar covering of contracts by speculators on the decline whose operations have offered such effective support on the recent advance. The reaction was altogether natural, however, following such a sharp advance as the market has had.

The movement today was broad with heavy trading in the shares that benefited so largely in the movement of yesterday and the day before. Much of the enthusiasm was based on the marked improvement in the bank position, as emphasized by the resumption of cash payments at Pittsburg and the return flow of currency to this center from the banking centers of the West and South. Discounts were easier abroad, where the markets were helped by what seemed to be trustworthy rumors that the German bank would lower its discount rate on Monday, the Vienna bank announcing a reduction today.

The market here was active throughout with the heaviest day's trading since the October panic. In the last hour the list was very unsettled, closing weak with heavy selling in some shares.

Much of the early demand was based on favorable bank forecasts. On that point, however, there was not much data on which to base an estimate, as the chief gain this week was derived from the return of hoarded money which has undoubtedly reached large proportions.

Trading on the Stock Exchange, Friday, was of an extensive character. The operations in Reading, Union Pacific and Pennsylvania were exceptionally large. The scope of the market may be indicated by the fact that over $2,000,000 in bonds were traded in during the first hour. This indicated a return of money to investment channels, and is another hopeful sign of the financial situation.

The strength and activity shown in the early hours of trading were not maintained through the session. Marked weakness was developed towards the close. Price movements in the final hours of the session were decidedly irregular, and the market closed weak. This was due, in a large measure, to profit-taking and to reported unfavorable conditions of certain railroads. A report was circulated that a receivership was imminent for the Southern Railway, and the stock of this corporation not only slumped severely itself, but had a weakening effect on the entire list. The closing recessions, which were not very serious, were logical, after the bullish market of the last week.

The slump in the 5-per-cent bonds of the Southern Railway, which amounted to 6 per cent, was a strong bear argument, and it was fully availed of by the pessimists.

All things considered the net declines of the day were not large. They merely represent a fraction of the gains that have been made since the first of the year, and were naturally expected.

The industrial division was less seriously affected than the rails, and their average loss was less than a point.

The trading was the largest since the strenuous days of October. Over 1,300,000 were altogether sold.

Predictions were numerous on the Exchange that Saturday's bank statement would be a good one, and as the money situation both here and abroad is improving daily, higher prices are confidently expected by the bull element in the market.

RAILROAD NEWS AND GOSSIP.

(Special Dispatches to the New York News Bureau.)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—The Central Railroad Co. of New Jersey has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable Feb. 1 to holders of record Jan. 17.

It is understood that George J. Gould has actively in hand a plan for taking care at maturity of the $6,00,000 5 per cent notes of the Missouri Pacific Railway Co. The notes fall due on Feb. 10. From what was learned yesterday it is probable that they will be refunded, but whether through the issue of a new note of the same style has not been fully decided.

CHICAGO GREAT WESTERN.

The Chicago Great Western Railway Co. was formed under the laws of Illinois in January, 1892, for the purpose of taking over the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City Railway Co. The company has four classes of stock outstanding in the following amounts respectively: Debenture 4 per cent cumulative, $28,127,080, out of an authorized issue of $30,000,000; $11,336,900 5 per cent preferred "A" stock, the authorized issue being $15,000,000; $23,163,842 4 per cent preferred "B" stock on which no dividend has ever been paid (authorized issue $24,000,000) and $44,465,195 common stock, the authorized issue being $50,000,000.

St. Louis Stock Exchange.

Although trading at the first session of the St. Louis Stock Exchange Friday was limited to 35 shares of Railways preferred, yet the price was the highest that has been recorded for this stock in a long time.

The 4s also showed strength, the bids being higher than on Thursday, while the offerings were firm at 77⅝.

Since the first of the new year there has been a steady advance in securities of the United Railways Co.

Quotations on the miscellaneous list were more numerous than usual, and in almost all instances were higher.

There is yet no sign of a revival of quotations on bank stocks.

There was a stiffening of prices at the second session, the preferred going ⅛ higher than the forenoon price and the 4s selling at 77¼, which is 1¼ points above the last recorded transaction. At the close of the session 77¼ was bid for 4s.

TICKER TALK.

Call money on the New York Exchange opened Friday at 5½ per cent and was quoted later at 5 per cent.

ST. PAUL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—St. Paul ran up to top on buying by brokerage house generally associated with Standard Oil interests.

READING.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Reading reacted a little on selling of 2500 shares by Barney.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—What little gossip there is is concerning mostly the next dividend on A. C. P. and the opinion as a rule that it will be on a 50-cent basis. The Amal Copper Co. has a surplus of over $50,000,000.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Weekly Bank of England statement:

Total reserve, increase $2,800,000.
Circulation, decrease $572,000.
Bullion, increase $2,227,000.
Other securities, decrease $13,643,000.
Other deposits, decrease $7,576,000.
Public deposits, decrease $2,290,000.
Government securities, increase $500,000.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 10.—Judging from operating of mills of the United States Steel Corporation in December and latter part of November a poor statement of earnings for the last quarter of 1907 is looked for. Earnings are now running far below what they were in December and stockholders in the event of no improvement should not be surprised if earnings in the first quarter of the current year run below the low record of 1904.

New York—Scattered borrowing demand for stock today, with Copper, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific in good demand.

READING.

New York—The heaviest buying of Reading on the advance came from a Broadway house that was very prominent in buying its last year.

ST. LOUIS MONEY MARKET.

Referring to the report that U. S. deposits in national banks at central reserve cities other than New York will be withdrawn in the near future, it was stated at the Subtreasury Friday that no instructions as to rate of withdrawal have yet been received. It is not thought that the sums to be taken out of national banks will be very large to begin with, so that the matter can be, it is certain, conveniently handled by all local depositories.

Receipts of currency from different points would go far toward offsetting this period of withdrawals.

FINANCIAL ITEMS

A further investigation of the affairs of the Hamilton Bank was begun by the State Department, which put 15 examiners on the books. It was said that this action probably would prevent the institution from reopening this week, and officials of the bank said that they could not tell just when it would resume business. All that State Banking Examiner Judson would say was that the department was examining the assets of the institution before they were turned over by the receiver.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 10.—The last of the clearing house certificates issued here during the recent financial crisis have been retired, and Detroit Banks are now on a cash basis.

St. Louis closed the year with an aggregate of $3,165,619,327 bank clearings for the 12 months. This is a record figure. The increase over 1906 was $192,966,020, a gain of 6.5 per cent. The clearing house balances broke the record, reaching a total of $270,671,942, as compared with $268,685,997 in 1906, a gain of $1,985,945.

Reports from all sections of the country are to the effect that banks in nearly all cities have resumed cash payments, and that rates for money are declining, while borrowers in general are waiting for a further decline.

A special session of the Kansas Legislature has been called for Jan. 16 to pass the guaranty deposit law.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—Frank M. Peet, president of the National Deposit Bank of Philadelphia, said this morning that his purchase of shares of the New Amsterdam National Bank, New York City, was entirely a personal matter. He said: "The National Deposit Bank is not interested in the deal, nor are other Philadelphians."

LIVESTOCK.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Jan. 10.—Estimated receipts today compare with a week and a year ago as follows:

| | Today. | Week ago. | Year ago. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Cattle | 1,200 | 1,100 | 2,800 |
| Hogs | 16,000 | 9,900 | 11,400 |
| Sheep | 2,000 | 2,000 | 1,100 |
| Horses and mules | 400 | 125 | 175 |

NATIVE CATTLE—The supply today was light and all but about three cars were native cattle. There was a fair proportion of steers and a few choice kinds. A load weighing about 1400 pounds sold at $5.60, the top price paid, with the range for medium and fair kinds between $4.35 and $5.10 and bulk of the offerings selling between $4.90 and $5. Trading was on a good, firm basis. The supply of butcher cattle sold readily at about steady prices, the best heifers bringing $4.60 and cows $4.25. Two loads of good feeders was the extent of the supply, and they brought $4.15, a strong price. The few calves here sold at a trifle lower prices, with the best received selling at $7.

SOUTHERN CATTLE—A couple of loads of Mississippi oxen and a car of calves constituted the day's supply. The calves were late in arriving. The oxen sold at $2.50 and $2.90.

HOGS—The receipts of hogs were again liberal and the five days now total close to 10,000 more than were ever before received in any full week. The market opened slow and about 5c lower. Buyers have stood up all week and bought the hogs as fast as they arrived, but this morning they were not in any hurry so that on the early market but little business was transacted.

The top of the market was $4.55, which shows a loss from the top yesterday of 5c, but some of the mixed hogs towards noon and later were more than 5c lower. The packers did not take hold like previous days this week and the other buyers were slow also. The good pigs and lightweight shippers were but little, if any, lower. More life was shown late, but the market at no time had the snap to it that has prevailed all week.

SHEEP—There was a fair supply of sheep on sale, nearly all of which arrived late and nearly all of them were Missouri-fed Westerns. Up to noon but little business had been transacted, but the market was close to steady with yesterday, which was the highest since last October.

HORSES—Retailing was rather active today and the greater portion of offerings left in first hands after the wholesale period were cleaned up. Eastern and toppy Southerners are in good demand, but common grades of small horses are weaker.

MULES—Considering the volume of receipts a good clearance is manifest in the commission department, especially in view of the fact that so many undesirable kinds have been on sale. The latter should be left in the country, as there is no demand for them.

COTTON FUTURES MARKET IS ACTIVE, BUT SOMEWHAT LOWER

Cables Better Than Expected, but Thursday's Buyers Liquidate.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Trading was less active in the local speculative market during the early session, but the undertone was steady, with values at the start unchanged to five points below the previous close. Liverpool was slightly better than expected, but there was a good deal of selling by yesterday's buyers and in the absence of aggressive support the market during the first part of the day sagged off a little. Private cables from Liverpool indicated the probable early settlement of the strike situation in Lancashire and this resulted in some new buying which sent prices back to about the opening level. The South was trading on both sides, while several large commission houses, although expressing bullish views on the market were selling. Port receipts were moderate, early estimates pointing to less than last year and advices from the South were bullish regarding the spot situation. It was claimed that good white cotton is becoming very scarce and commanding high premiums, while at the same time spot handlers expressed the fear that they had oversold themselves and were inclined to hedge in the future market. The sharp advance in the stock market, with the more confident feeling in financial circles, have given rise to predictions of an early return to normal conditions in the general trade situation, but on the other hand some important reductions have been made by the leading print works and local spot handlers say that the mills are still buying only in moderate quantities to supply immediate requirements.

WHEAT CLOSES ABOUT STEADY

Vacillated Rather Irregularly Under Conflicting News and Tone Was Quiet.

CORN PRICES EASIER

Cash Demand Poor and Tone Weak—Some Activity in Oats.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS IN BRIEF

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Wheat ¼@⅜c lower, but reacted some from the bottom on export takings. Cash sales 47 loads wheat at seaboard and 20,000 bushels here; clearances both coasts for week 6,840,000 bushels. Opening was a shade higher on firmer Liverpool cables and moderate Argentine receipts, but the market sold off sharply later, turning very weak on liquidation and short selling combined. No. 2 red $1.01⅝ to $1.04.

Corn was weak throughout the session. May sold down to 61⅛c and closed weak at 60½c, a net loss of ⅛@⅜c. No. 3 yellow 56@57c.

Oats were fairly active and closed ¼@⅜c lower; No. 3 white 50@53c.

There were occasional spurts of activity in local wheat Friday, but the market for the most part was rather quiet. Prices vacillated rather irregularly and closed 1-16c to ¼c lower for the day.

Argentine shipments of wheat were 496,000 bu against 400,000 bu last week and 730,000 bu a year ago. The Argentine wheat market is firm and the demand fair. Arrivals from the interior are increasing slowly and the quality is satisfactory. Harvesting is progressing favorably and stocks show a large increase as compared with last year.

Liverpool future wheat closed ⅜d higher and spot wheat unchanged to ⅛d higher, which with corresponding firmness on the Continent and a quite sharp decrease in Minneapolis stocks, caused a firm opening. Commission house selling, both for short and long account, set in almost immediately, however, and prices sagged steadily to about ½c below Thursday's close, at which levels they moved slowly during most of the forenoon.

A cable from Delhi, in the province of Punjaub, India, states that beneficial and much-needed rains have fallen. This is an important wheat district, last year's crop of Punjaub being 161,000,000 bu. This, with the fine weather in Argentine, were the features causing the dip.

It was stated that charters for 1,200,000 tons have been engaged by Argentine, the greater part for wheat. All is for January, February and March shipment and equals approximately 40,000,000 bu. A free movement in Argentine is expected in the latter half of January.

Cash deals in Chicago Thursday were: Wheat, 140,000 bu; corn, 150,000 bu, and oats, 75,000 bu. The seaboard reported 424,000 wheat and 160,000 bu corn taken for export.

Messages in regard to the export demand were contradictory, some early reports of very liberal sales being denied later. The tone was undoubtedly improved and a good business was done, the number of loads marked being about 40, most of which was durum.

The cash wheat market at Minneapolis, due to the withdrawal of wheat from the elevators, was slow. No. 1 Northern sold ½c over May and No. 2 1½c under. Minneapolis stocks decreased 40,000 bu for the week. Minneapolis cars were 239, Duluth 66 and Winnipeg 102.

The reported good export demand and the Modern Miller's unfavorable report on the growing crop stirred up quite an active and strong market about noon, prices recovering the early losses and scaring a small advance. Trading again became small near the end, however, and prices sagged slightly. The close was dull and easy.

May wheat ranged between $1.06 and $1.05¼, opening ⅛@¼c higher at $1.05⅝@1.05¾, and closing at $1.05⅝@1.05¼ bid. July wheat was bid for as high as 96⅜c, sold as low as 95⅞c, and closed 1-16c lower at 96¼c sellers.

The cash demand for wheat was very poor and prices were lower.

Primary receipts of wheat were 568,741 bu, with shipments of 227,175 bu, and local receipts were 36,000 bu, with shipments of 50,810 bu.

Bradstreet reports the exports of wheat and flour for the week at 6,804,000 bu, and today's clearances from the seaboard were 769,000 bu.

Trading in corn was quiet and almost entirely confined to May option, and the tone was easy. The chief depressing influences were the reports that offerings from the country in all parts of the belt were very liberal and that large receipts will occur when this grain gets moving, the first of next week. Some little export demand for corn was reported, but cables closed ¼d lower.

Argentine shipments of corn were 293,000 bu, against 545,000 bu last week and 1,133,000 bu a year ago. The Argentine corn market is firm and the demand quiet. Arrivals from the interior are smaller and stocks are decreasing.

Corn futures, after moving in a narrow range, closed ⅝c lower.

Cash corn was in slow demand and lower.

Primary receipts of corn were 463,450 bu, with shipments of 415,038 bu, and local receipts were 79,200 bu, with shipments of 50,895 bu.

The week's exports of corn were 1,111,000 bu and today's clearances 9000 bu.

There was some activity in oats futures, several sales being made in May and the tone was steady, the close being unchanged for the day. Cash oats were dull and weak. Oats clearances were 4000 bu.

Primary receipts of oats were 432,357 bu, with shipments of 412,664 bu and local receipts were 107,200 bu with shipments of 63,705 bu.

FLOUR—Receipts were 2840 bbls; shipments, 10,310 bbls. Quote soft winter flour, patents, $4.65@4.90; straight, $4.40@4.50 extra medium grades, in jute, $3.40@3.75 hard jute sacks, patent, $4.50@4.80; straight, $4.30@4.40; clears, $3.75@4; low grade, $3.10@3.35; spring patents, $5@5.20 in jute.

HAY—Receipts 730 tons local and 120 tons through; shipments, 255 tons. Quote timothy, choice, $17@17.50; No. 1, $14.50@16.50; No. 2, $12@14; No. 3, $8@12; no grade, $5@7. Clover mixed, choice, $14; No. 1, $11.50@12; No. 2, $10@12; clover hay, No. 1, $13@13.50; No. 2, $10@12. Prairie hay—Choice, $12; No. 1, $10.50@11; No. 2, $9@10. Hay market dull.

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 10.—Corn lower; No. 3 yellow, 54@55½c; No. 3, 54@54¾c; No. 4, 51½c; no grade, 48c. Oats easy; No. 3 white, 50@50½c; No. 4 white, 49@49½c. Whisky, $1.33.

Modern Miller Crop Outlook.

Thawing and freezing weather prevails over a large section of the winter wheat belt and general weather conditions are not seasonable. Larger deliveries of soft winter wheat are being made by Missouri and Illinois farmers, though hauling is difficult, owing to the bad condition of country roads. A hard freeze would bring out good deliveries.

And Overcoats from America's most expert makers—garments that portray the uppermost achievements in Overcoat Building—are to go to you Saturday at prices that have never been equaled in St. Louis on qualities of such excellence and genuine merit.

Overcoats for men, young men and boys—every one bearing Famous' broadgauge guarantee to give satisfaction or your money back—now go to you at prices that absolutely do not cover the cost of the fabrics that were used in their construction. You can afford to buy now, even though for future wear—the saving is too pronounced to be ignored.

Famous will move to The May Co. building, on Washington av. and 6th st., about Febuary 15th, 1908. We propose to dispose of every dollar's worth of goods now in our possession before that time. This most unprecedented price-cutting has been resorted to in order that we can positively accomplish our purpose. Come Saturday and let us demonstrate how truly legitimate Famous' Far-Reaching and Genuine Bargain-Giving Removal Sale really is.
